QUICK REFERENCE CHART FOR DETERMINING SELECTED IMMIGRATION CONSEQUENCES OF SELECTED CALIFORNIA OFFENSES

By the Immigrant Legal Resource Center, Defending Immigrants Partnership

Introduction

1. Using the Chart and Notes. The chart analyzes adverse immigration consequences that flow from conviction of selected California offenses, and suggests how to avoid the consequences. The chart appears organized numerically by [code section] or alphabetically by [name of offense.]

Several short articles or “Notes” provide more explanation of selected topics. Chart entries direct the reader to relevant Notes; see Notes on Record Of Conviction; Sentence; Aggravated Felonies; Crimes Involving Moral Turpitude; Drug Offenses; Domestic Violence, Firearms and Prostitution; Whether Battery Is A Crime Of Violence; Burglary, Theft and Fraud Offenses; Suggested “Safer” Plea Options; An Immigrant Client Questionnaire; and Additional Resources.

2. Sending comments about the Chart. Contact us if you disagree with an analysis, see a relevant new case, want to suggest other offenses to be analyzed or to propose other alternate “safer” pleas, or want to say how the chart works for you or how it could be improved. Send email to chart@ilrc.org. This address will not answer legal questions; for information about obtaining legal consults on cases see “contract services” at www.ilrc.org. The Chart will be updated and expanded in 2004.

3. Need for Individual Analysis. This Chart and Notes are a summary of a complex body of law, to be consulted on-line or printed out and carried to courtrooms and client meetings for quick reference. However, more thorough individual analysis of a defendant’s immigration situation is needed to give competent defense advice. For example, the defense goals for representing a permanent resident are different from those for an undocumented person, and analysis also changes depending upon past convictions and what type of immigration relief is potentially available. See Note “Immigration Consequences.” The Chart and Notes are best used in conjunction with resource works such as Brady, California Criminal Law and Immigration (citations to specific sections are included throughout these materials) or Tooby, Criminal Defense of Immigrants, and/or along with consultation with an immigration expert. See Note “Resources.” The Chart and Notes currently do not contain a full diagnostic guide, but each defendant should complete a form such as the one found at Note “Immigrant Client Questionnaire,” which provides some diagnostic aid. Some offices print these forms on colored paper so that defenders can immediately identify the file as involving a noncitizen client, and have the client data needed to begin the immigration analysis.
4. Disclaimer and Note to Immigration Attorneys and Citators. This chart represents a fairly conservative view of the law, meant where possible to guide criminal defense counsel away from more dangerous options and toward safer ones. It is not meant to stand as authority that all digested offenses actually will or should be held to have the listed immigration consequence. For instance, the chart may identify an offense as being an aggravated felony because there is some danger that it will be so held, even though immigration attorneys can make strong arguments to the contrary that may prevail. For a more detailed analysis of offenses and arguments, see cited sections of California Criminal Law and Immigration and other works in Note “Resources.”

While federal courts have specifically affirmed the immigration consequences listed for some of these offenses, in other cases the chart represents only the authors’ opinion as to how courts are likely to rule. In addition there is the constant threat that Congress will amend the immigration laws and apply the change retroactively to past convictions. Defenders and noncitizen defendants need to be aware that the immigration consequences of crimes is a complex, unpredictable and constantly changing area of law where there are few guarantees. Defender offices should check accuracy of pleas and obtain up-to-date information. See books, websites, and services discussed in Note “Resources.” But using this guide and other works cited in the “Resources” Note will help defenders to give noncitizen defendants a greater chance to preserve or obtain lawful status in the United States – for many defendants, a goal as or more important than avoiding criminal penalties.

Acknowledgements

Katherine Brady of the Immigrant Legal Resource Center (San Francisco) is the principal author of the California Immigration Consequences Chart and accompanying Notes. She would like to thank Norton Tooby, Graciela Martinez, Michael Mehr and the other defenders and advisors of the California Defending Immigrants Partnership for their many significant contributions to this research, and the staff at the Immigrant Legal Resource Center for their support. We are grateful to our colleagues in the national Defending Immigrants Partnership and to the Gideon Project of the Open Society Institute and the Ford Foundation for funding this national project.

Copyright 2003 Immigrant Legal Resource Center. Permission to reproduce is granted to criminal and immigration defense attorneys only. If you use these materials in a training, please notify chart@ilrc.org.
QUICK REFERENCE CHART FOR DETERMINING IMMIGRATION CONSEQUENCES OF SELECTED CALIFORNIA OFFENSES

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>CALIFORNIA CODE SECTION</th>
<th>OFFENSE</th>
<th>AGGRAVATED FELONY</th>
<th>CRIME INVOLVING MORAL TURPITUDE</th>
<th>OTHER DEPORTABLE, INADMISSIBLE GROUNDS</th>
<th>ADVICE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Business &amp; Professions § 4324</td>
<td>Forgery of prescription, possession of any drugs</td>
<td>Felony conviction is drug trafficking AF if it involves controlled substances (CS). Conviction of any forgery offense with 1-yr sentence imposed is AF.</td>
<td>Might be divisible: forgery is CMT but poss of forged drug possibly not.</td>
<td>Deportable, inadmissible for CS conviction if record of conviction identifies the CS.</td>
<td>To avoid CS agg felony, reduce to misd or avoid info in record of conviction (ROC) identifying the CS. To avoid CS conviction avoid info in ROC identifying CS, or see PC 32, 529(3), or 1st offense simple possession (H&amp;S 11357). To avoid forgery agg felony avoid 1-yr sentence. See Notes &quot;Safer Pleas&quot; and &quot;Drug Offenses&quot;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Business &amp; Professions §25658(a)</td>
<td>Selling liquor to a minor</td>
<td>Not AF.</td>
<td>Not CMT.</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Business &amp; Professions §25662</td>
<td>Possession, purchase, or consumption of liquor by a minor</td>
<td>Not AF.</td>
<td>Not CMT.</td>
<td>No, except multiple convictions could be evidence of alcoholism, an inadmissibility grnd</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Calif. Health &amp; Safety § 11173(a)</td>
<td>Prescription for controlled substance (CS) by fraud</td>
<td>Felony conviction (under H&amp;S 11371.1) is AF</td>
<td>May be divisible, e.g. 11173(b) not CMT</td>
<td>Deportable, inadmissible for CS conviction</td>
<td>To avoid agg felony, reduce to misd. To avoid CS conviction see PC 32, 529(3) or a first offense simple poss CS or poss of paraphernalia (see advice H&amp;S 11357). See Notes &quot;Drug Offenses&quot; and &quot;Safer Pleas.&quot; A plea to B&amp;P 4324 without identifying CS is not a CS offense.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>H&amp;S 11350(a), (b)</td>
<td>Possession of controlled substance</td>
<td>Felony conviction is AF, misdemeanor is not</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td>Deportable, inadmissible for CS conviction</td>
<td>Plead to misdemeanor or try to keep record of conviction vague between felony and misdemeanor to prevent Agg Felony. See advice for H&amp;S 11357</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

AF = Aggravated Felony
COV = Crime of Violence
CMT = Crime Involving Moral Turpitude
CS = Controlled Substance
DV = Domestic Violence
ROC = Record of Conviction
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>CALIFORNIA CODE SECTION</th>
<th>OFFENSE</th>
<th>AGGRAVATED FELONY</th>
<th>CRIME INVOLVING MORAL TURPITUDE</th>
<th>OTHER DEPORTABLE, INADMISSIBLE GROUNDS</th>
<th>ADVICE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>H&amp;S § 11351</td>
<td>Possession for sale</td>
<td>Yes AF as CS trafficking conviction</td>
<td>Yes CMT as CS trafficking offense</td>
<td>Deportable, inadmissible for CS conviction</td>
<td>To avoid AF attempt to plead down to first or at least misdo simple poss (see H&amp;S 11357), or H&amp;S 11365, 11550; or consider pleading up to offer to sell, see advice in H&amp;S 11352. Or plead to PC 32 with less than 1 yr sentence to avoid AF, deportability and perhaps inadmissibility. See Note &quot;Drug Offenses&quot; and &quot;Safer Pleas.&quot;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>H&amp;S § 11351.5</td>
<td>Possession for sale of cocaine base</td>
<td>Yes AF as CS trafficking conviction</td>
<td>Yes CMT as CS trafficking offense</td>
<td>Deportable, inadmissible for CS conviction</td>
<td>See advice on H&amp;S 11351 and Note &quot;Drug Offenses.&quot;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>H&amp;S § 11352(a)</td>
<td>Sale of controlled substances</td>
<td>Divisible: &quot;offering&quot; to sell, distribute is not AF while sell, distribute is AF. Transport for personal use is not AF.</td>
<td>Yes CMT as CS trafficking offense (except transport for personal use)</td>
<td>Deportable, inadmissible for CS conviction</td>
<td>See discussion in Note &quot;Drug Offense.&quot; In sum, offering to commit any drug offense, including sale, is not an AF, and imm atty can argue not deportable CS offense. Best plea is to whole statute in the disjunctive so ROC does not preclude that plea was to offer to transport/transport personal use. This will avoid AF, plus will allow imm attorney to argue it is not a deportable or inadmissible CS conviction. PC 32 with less than 1 yr prevents agg felony and deportability.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

AF = Aggravated Felony
COV = Crime of Violence
CMT = Crime Involving Moral Turpitude
CS = Controlled Substance
DV = Domestic Violence
ROC = Record of Conviction
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>CALIFORNIA CODE SECTION</th>
<th>OFFENSE</th>
<th>AGGRAVATED FELONY</th>
<th>CRIME INVOLVING MORAL TURPITUDE</th>
<th>OTHER DEPORTABLE, INADMISSIBLE GROUNDS</th>
<th>ADVICE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>H&amp;S §11357</td>
<td>Marijuana, possession</td>
<td>Misdemeanor is not AF, Felony (possession of hashish) is AF</td>
<td>Not CMT</td>
<td>Deportable, inadmissible for CS conviction</td>
<td>See discussion in Note &quot;Drug Offense.&quot; In sum, where no CS priors, a FIRST conviction for felony or misdo simple poss of any CS (or a less serious CS offense) is eliminated by withdrawal of plea as part of DEJ, Prop 36, PC 1203.4, etc. But a SECOND conviction for simple poss cannot be so eliminated, and if it is a felony it is an Agg Felony. To avoid the AF reduce to a misdo where permitted, or seek an alternate plea: attempt to plead down to 11365, 11550, etc (which as a second offense cannot be eliminated by DEJ etc. but at least will not be an AF); plead to P.C. § 32 or offense where the CS not identified; or consider pleading up to offering to transport/ transportation for personal use (see advice in H&amp;S 11352).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>H&amp;S §11358</td>
<td>Marijuana, Cultivate</td>
<td>Felony conviction is controlled substance (CS) AF</td>
<td>Might be held CMT if ROC shows intent to sell.</td>
<td>Deportable and inadmissible for CS conviction</td>
<td>Plead to a 1st offense simple possession (see H&amp;S 11357); plead up to offer to sell (see H&amp;S 11360); to accessory with less than 1-yr imposed (see PC 32); to non-drug offense. See Notes &quot;Safer Pleas&quot; and &quot;Drug Offenses&quot;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>H&amp;S 11360(a)</td>
<td>Marijuana - sale, give, transport, offer to</td>
<td>Divisible: offering to sell if not AF while sale is. Transport personal use not AF</td>
<td>Yes CMT as CS trafficking offense (except transport for personal use)</td>
<td>See H&amp;S 11352.</td>
<td>Sale is divisible statute, see advice in H&amp;S 11352 and Note &quot;Drug Offenses.&quot;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>H&amp;S §11364</td>
<td>Possession of drug paraphernalia</td>
<td>Not AF.</td>
<td>Not CMT</td>
<td>Deportable, inadmissible for CS conviction</td>
<td>Because this is an offense &quot;less serious&quot; than simple possession, a first conviction is eliminated through withdrawal of plea under DEJ, Prop 36, PC 1203.4 etc. See advice on H&amp;S 11357 and Notes &quot;Drug Offenses&quot; and “Safer Pleas.”</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

AF = Aggravated Felony
COV = Crime of Violence
CMT = Crime Involving Moral Turpitude
CS = Controlled Substance
DV = Domestic Violence
ROC = Record of Conviction
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>CALIFORNIA CODE SECTION</th>
<th>OFFENSE</th>
<th>AGGRAVATED FELONY</th>
<th>CRIME INVOLVING MORAL TURPITUDE</th>
<th>OTHER DEPORTABLE, INADMISSIBLE GROUNDS</th>
<th>ADVICE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>H&amp;S § 11365</td>
<td>Presence where CS is used</td>
<td>Not AF.</td>
<td>Not CMT</td>
<td>Deportable, inadmissible for CS conviction</td>
<td>See advice on H&amp;S 11364 and 11357, and Notes &quot;Drug Offenses&quot; and &quot;Safer Pleas&quot;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>H&amp;S § 11368</td>
<td>Forged prescription to obtain narcotic drug</td>
<td>Felony conviction is CS AF, misdemeanor not. Forgery offense with 1-yr sentence is AF, maybe not CMT; fraud intent not element of forged prescription</td>
<td>Deportable and inadmissible for CS conviction</td>
<td>Reduce to misdemeanor to avoid Agg Felony; see also advice for H&amp;S 11173. Avoid 1-yr sentence for forgery; see Note &quot;Sentence.&quot;</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>H&amp;S § 11377</td>
<td>Possession of controlled substance</td>
<td>Misdemeanor not AF, Felony is AF</td>
<td>Not CMT</td>
<td>To avoid Agg Felony reduce to misd; see also advice in H&amp;S 11357 and Note &quot;Drug Offenses&quot;.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>H&amp;S § 11378</td>
<td>Possession for sale CS</td>
<td>Yes</td>
<td>Yes CMT as CS trafficking offense</td>
<td>Deportable, inadmissible for CS conviction</td>
<td>See advice on H&amp;S 11351 and Note &quot;Drug Offenses&quot;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>H&amp;S § 11550</td>
<td>Under the influence of controlled substance (CS)</td>
<td>Under influence not AF. Felony conviction of under influence with gun 11550(e) might be AF as COV under 18 USC 16(b) if 1-yr sentence imposed.</td>
<td>Not CMT</td>
<td>For 11550(a)-(c) see advice on H&amp;S 11364 and 11357, and Notes &quot;Drug Offenses&quot; and &quot;Safer Pleas.&quot; To avoid firearms offense avoid ROC showing 11550(e) is conviction. To avoid threat of 11550(e) as Agg Felony, reduce to misd under PC 17 and avoid 1-yr sentence.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal 21a</td>
<td>Attempt</td>
<td>Yes AF if principal offense is. If principal needs 1-yr sentence imposed to be AF, attempt also needs 1 yr imposed.</td>
<td>CMT if principal offense is. See Advice re advantage of half sentence for CMT deport ground</td>
<td>Takes on character of principal offense.</td>
<td>Attempt takes on the character of the principal offense. Because attempt has half the potential sentence (PC 644(b)) it is useful to prevent CMT wobbler misdemeanor from being an offense with a potential sentence of 1 yr. See Note &quot;Crimes Involving Moral Turpitude.&quot;</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

AF = Aggravated Felony
COV = Crime of Violence
CMT = Crime Involving Moral Turpitude
CS = Controlled Substance
DV = Domestic Violence
ROC = Record of Conviction
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>CALIFORNIA CODE SECTION</th>
<th>OFFENSE</th>
<th>AGGRAVATED FELONY</th>
<th>CRIME INVOLVING MORAL TURPITUDE</th>
<th>OTHER DEPORTABLE, INADMISSIBLE GROUNDS</th>
<th>ADVICE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Penal §32</td>
<td>Accessory after the fact</td>
<td>Only if 1 yr sentence imposed</td>
<td>Might be held CMT</td>
<td>Accessory does not take on character of principal offense so e.g. accessory to drug/violent offense is not a deportable conviction. But if principal offense involves drug trafficking, govt may assert conviction is &quot;reason to believe&quot; person inadmissible for aiding drug trafficker.</td>
<td>To avoid agg felony avoid 1 yr sentence imposed; see Note &quot;sentence&quot; (in contrast, misprision of felony can take 1 yr sentence). Good plea to avoid e.g. drug, violence, firearms conviction. For further discussion of accessory see Note &quot;Safer Pleas&quot;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal § 92</td>
<td>Bribery</td>
<td>Yes AF if a sentence of 1-yr or more is imposed.</td>
<td>Yes CMT.</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal 118</td>
<td>Perjury</td>
<td>Yes AF if a sentence of 1-yr or more is imposed.</td>
<td>Yes CMT</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §136.1(b)(2)</td>
<td>Persuade a witness not to file complaint</td>
<td>Appears not to be an AF as COV, since no force required.</td>
<td>Not CMT</td>
<td>If not COV, then not a DV offense even if DV-type victim.</td>
<td>Appears to be a good substitute plea with no imm consequences, but a strike w/ high exposure. For that reason can use for serious charges. See Note &quot;Safer Pleas.&quot; See also PC 236, not a strike.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal § 140</td>
<td>Threat against witness</td>
<td>AF if 1-yr sentence imposed</td>
<td>Yes CMT</td>
<td>If COV, a domestic violence offense if committed against DV type victim</td>
<td>To avoid AF avoid 1-yr sentence; see Note &quot;Sentence.&quot; To avoid AF and DV deportability ground see PC 136.1(b)(2), 236, 241(a).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §148</td>
<td>Resisting arrest</td>
<td>148(a)(1) is not AF. Felony conviction of 148(b)-(d) w/ 1-yr or more imposed might be AF as COV under 18 USC 16(b)</td>
<td>Sections involving removal of firearm from officer may incur deportability under firearms ground. See Note &quot;DV, Firearms Grounds&quot;</td>
<td>Plead to 148(a)(1). If plea to (b) (d), avoid possible AF by obtaining misdo conviction, reducing felony to misdo, and/or obtaining sentence less than 1 yr; see Note &quot;Sentence.&quot; +F46</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

AF = Aggravated Felony
COV = Crime of Violence
CMT = Crime Involving Moral Turpitude
DV = Domestic Violence
ROC = Record of Conviction
CS = Controlled Substance
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>CALIFORNIA CODE SECTION</th>
<th>OFFENSE</th>
<th>AGGRAVATED FELONY</th>
<th>CRIME INVOLVING MORAL TURPITUDE</th>
<th>OTHER DEPORTABLE, INADMISSIBLE GROUNDS</th>
<th>ADVICE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Penal §182, 184</td>
<td>Conspiracy</td>
<td>If principal offense is AF-type offense, conspiracy is. If offense requires 1-yr or more sentence to be AF, conspiracy also does.</td>
<td>If principal offense is CMT, conspiracy is</td>
<td>Conspiracy takes on consequences of principal offense, e.g. controlled substance, firearm.</td>
<td>Same consequence as principal offense. If 1yr sentence needed for AF, avoid the 1-yr.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §187</td>
<td>Murder (first or second degree)</td>
<td>Yes AF</td>
<td>Yes CMT</td>
<td>COV is domestic violence offense if committed against DV type victim</td>
<td>See manslaughter</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §192(a)</td>
<td>Manslaughter, voluntary</td>
<td>Yes AF as COV, only if 1-yr or more sentence imposed</td>
<td>Yes CMT</td>
<td>COV is domestic violence offense if committed against DV type victim</td>
<td>To avoid AF, avoid 1-yr sentence imposed; see Note &quot;Sentence.&quot; To avoid CMT see PC 192(b).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal 192(b)</td>
<td>Manslaughter, involuntary</td>
<td>Yes AF as COV, only if 1-yr or more sentence imposed</td>
<td>Not CMT</td>
<td>COV is domestic violence offense if committed against DV type victim</td>
<td>To avoid AF, avoid 1-yr sentence imposed; see Note &quot;Sentence.&quot; .</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §203</td>
<td>Mayhem</td>
<td>Yes AF only if 1-yr or more sentence imposed</td>
<td>Yes CMT</td>
<td>COV is domestic violence offense if committed against DV type victim</td>
<td>Avoid 1-yr sentence to avoid AF; see Note &quot;Sentence.&quot; See also PC 236 and 136.1(b) and Note &quot;Safer Pleas&quot;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §207</td>
<td>Kidnapping</td>
<td>Yes AF only if 1-yr or more sentence imposed. (But see Advice re force and fear.)</td>
<td>Yes CMT</td>
<td>COV is domestic violence offense if committed against DV type victim</td>
<td>See advice for PC 203. If 1-yr sentence imposed, keep ROC vague between force or other fear so imm counsel can attempt to argue that fear is not necessarily a COV.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §211</td>
<td>Robbery (first or second degree) by means of force or fear</td>
<td>Yes AF if 1-yr or more sentence imposed (But see Advice re force and fear.)</td>
<td>Yes CMT</td>
<td>COV is domestic violence offense if committed against DV type victim</td>
<td>See advice for PC 203. If 1-yr sentence imposed, keep ROC vague between force or fear so imm counsel can attempt to argue that fear is not necessarily a COV.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §220</td>
<td>Assault, with intent to commit rape, mayhem, etc.</td>
<td>Assault to commit rape may be AF as attempted rape regardless of sentence. Other offenses are AF (as COV) only if 1-yr or more sentence imposed</td>
<td>Yes CMT</td>
<td>COV is domestic violence offense if committed against DV type victim</td>
<td>Intent to commit rape may be treated as attempted rape, which is an AF regardless of sentence. See PC 243.4 w/ less than 1 yr. For other offenses avoid 1-yr sentence to avoid AF; see Note &quot;Sentence.&quot; See also PC 236 and 136.1(b); to avoid CMT see 243(d) (with less than 1 yr sentence), and see Note &quot;Safer Pleas.&quot;</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

AF = Aggravated Felony
COV = Crime of Violence
CMT = Crime Involving Moral Turpitude
CS = Controlled Substance
DV = Domestic Violence
ROC = Record of Conviction
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>CALIFORNIA CODE SECTION</th>
<th>OFFENSE</th>
<th>AGGRAVATED FELONY</th>
<th>CRIME INVOLVING MORAL TURPITUDE</th>
<th>OTHER DEPORTABLE, INADMISSIBLE GROUNDS</th>
<th>ADVICE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Penal §236, 237</td>
<td>False imprisonment (felony)</td>
<td>Divisible: a COV if it involves violence or menace, but ought not to be so held if involves fraud or deceit. A COV with a 1-yr or more sentence imposed is an AF.</td>
<td>Yes CMT</td>
<td>A COV (here with violence or menace) is domestic violence offense if committed against DV type victim</td>
<td>Should not be held COV if record of conviction does not identify violence/ menace. If COV, avoid AF by avoiding 1-yr sentence for any one count. To avoid CMT, see misdemeanor false imprisonment</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §236, 237</td>
<td>False imprisonment (misdo)</td>
<td>Appears not to be an AF as COV, since no force required.</td>
<td>Appears not to be a CMT</td>
<td>No</td>
<td>Appears to be good substitute plea to avoid crime of violence in DV cases. See discussion in Note: “Safer Pleas.” It is not clear that reducing felony 236 to a misdemeanor will avoid CMT status.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal § 241(a)</td>
<td>Assault, simple</td>
<td>Not AF. (COV requires 1-yr sentence to be AF; 6 month maximum here)</td>
<td>Not CMT</td>
<td>COV is domestic violence offense if committed against DV type victim, but simple assault may not be COV absent info in record of conviction.</td>
<td>To avoid COV for DV purposes, see advice in PC 243(a).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal § 241(b)</td>
<td>Assault on peace officer etc.</td>
<td>If found to be COV, is an AF if 1-yr sentence imposed</td>
<td>Probably not CMT</td>
<td>No</td>
<td>Avoid 1-yr sentence to avoid AF; see Note &quot;Sentence.&quot;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal § 243(a)</td>
<td>Battery, Simple</td>
<td>Not AF (COV requires 1-yr sentence to be AF; 6 month maximum here)</td>
<td>Not CMT</td>
<td>COV is domestic violence offense if committed against DV type victim, but simple battery may not be COV absent info in record of conviction.</td>
<td>To perhaps avoid COV for DV purposes, keep ROC clear of info showing more than a mere touching. See Notes &quot;Battery not COV?&quot; and &quot;Domestic Violence.&quot; See also PC 236 (misdo), 602.5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §243(b), (c)</td>
<td>Battery on a peace officer, fireman etc.</td>
<td>Yes AF as COV only if 1-yr or more sentence imposed</td>
<td>243(b) not CMT, 243(c) (with injury) may be.</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td>Avoid 1-yr sentence to avoid AF; see Note &quot;Sentence.&quot; ?Keep ROC vague between (b) and (c) to avoid record of conviction.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §243(d)</td>
<td>Battery with serious bodily injury</td>
<td>Yes AF as COV only if 1-yr or more sentence imposed</td>
<td>Not CMT; good substitute for avoiding CMT.</td>
<td>COV is domestic violence offense if committed against DV type victim</td>
<td>See discussion in Note &quot;Safer Pleas.&quot; Avoid 1-yr sentence to avoid AF; see Note &quot;Sentence.&quot; See also PC 236, 136.1(b), potentially 243(a) to avoid COV.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

AF = Aggravated Felony
COV = Crime of Violence
CMT = Crime Involving Moral Turpitude
DV = Domestic Violence
ROC = Record of Conviction
CS = Controlled Substance
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>CALIFORNIA CODE SECTION</th>
<th>OFFENSE</th>
<th>AGGRAVATED FELONY</th>
<th>CRIME INVOLVING MORAL TURPITUDE</th>
<th>OTHER DEPORTABLE, INADMISSIBLE GROUNDS</th>
<th>ADVICE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Penal 243(e)(1)</td>
<td>Battery against spouse, former date, etc.</td>
<td>Yes AF as COV only if 1-yr or more sentence imposed</td>
<td>Yes CMT (But imm atty may argue that where victim was date or ex-date, it is not CMT)</td>
<td>Deportable under DV ground (arguably only if ROC establishes battery went beyond mere touching). Note: court finding of violation of DV protective order also causes deportability; see Note “DV”</td>
<td>See “Note: DV.” To possibly avoid DV, keep record clear of info that battery was beyond mere touching. See Note “Is Battery a COV?” and advice for PC 243(a). (Imm atty at least can argue not CMT if ROC permits possibility that victim was date/ex-date, because less violation of familial trust. See Matter of Tran, 21 I&amp;N 291 (BIA 1996)).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §243.4</td>
<td>Sexual battery</td>
<td>Yes AF as COV only if 1-yr or more sentence imposed</td>
<td>Yes CMT</td>
<td>COV is domestic violence offense if committed against DV type victim</td>
<td>Avoid 1-yr sentence to avoid AF; see Note “Sentence.” See PC 243(d) to avoid CMT. See PC 136.1(b), 236 to avoid CMT and COV.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §245</td>
<td>Assault, with a deadly weapon (firearms or other) or force likely to produce great bodily harm</td>
<td>Yes AF as COV only if 1-yr or more sentence imposed</td>
<td>Yes CMT</td>
<td>COV is domestic violence offense if committed against DV type victim. Section 245(a)(2) and others involving firearms bring deportability under firearms ground.</td>
<td>Avoid 1-yr sentence to avoid AF; see Note “Sentence.” To avoid firearms grnd, keep record of conviction clear of evidence that offense was 245(a)(2); see also PC 12020, 236, 243(d) and 136.1(b) and Notes “Safer Pleas” and “DV, Firearms Grounds.”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §261</td>
<td>Rape</td>
<td>Yes AF, regardless of sentence imposed.</td>
<td>Yes CMT</td>
<td>COV is domestic violence if committed against DV type victim.</td>
<td>See PC 243(d) (not CMT) and 243.4 (both not Agg Felonies if less than 1 yr sentence), 236, 136.1(b)(2) (can support 1 yr sentence) and Note “Safer Pleas”.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §261.5</td>
<td>Unlawful sexual intercourse (statutory rape)</td>
<td>BIA holds even misd. with no jail is &quot;sexual abuse of a minor&quot; AF, but 9th Cir considering issue at this writing.</td>
<td>Yes CMT</td>
<td>COV is domestic violence if committed against DV type victim. This also might be charged under DV deport ground as child abuse.</td>
<td>Unless 9th Cir reverses BIA, even a misd is an Agg Felony. See PC 243(a), 243(d), 243.4, 236, 136.1(b)(2) and Note “Safer Pleas.”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §262</td>
<td>Spousal Rape</td>
<td>Yes AF, regardless of sentence imposed.</td>
<td>Yes CMT</td>
<td>Deportable under DV ground.</td>
<td>See PC 243(d), 243.4, 236, 136.1(b)(2) and Note “Safer Pleas.”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §270</td>
<td>Failure to provide for child</td>
<td>Not AF.</td>
<td>Not CMT.</td>
<td>May be deportable under DV ground for child neglect.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §272</td>
<td>Contributing to the delinquency of a minor</td>
<td>Not AF, except possibly as sexual abuse of a minor if record of conviction shows lewd act.</td>
<td>Divisible: may be CMT if record of conviction shows lewdness</td>
<td>With lewdness, possibly deportable under DV for child abuse.</td>
<td>Keep record of conviction clear of reference to lewd act.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

AF = Aggravated Felony
COV = Crime of Violence
CMT = Crime Involving Moral Turpitude
CS = Controlled Substance
DV = Domestic Violence
ROC = Record of Conviction
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>CALIFORNIA CODE SECTION</th>
<th>OFFENSE AGGRAVATED Felony</th>
<th>CRIME INVOLVING MORAL TURPITUDE</th>
<th>OTHER DEPORTABLE, INADMISSIBLE GROUNDS</th>
<th>ADVICE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Penal §273a(a)</td>
<td>Child injury, endangerment</td>
<td>Divisible as a COV: infliction of physical pain may involve use of force but other actions, including placing a child where health is endangered, do not. A COV with 1-yr sentence imposed is an AF.</td>
<td>Divisible: inflicting pain is CMT, but unreasonably risking child's health is not. See disc. in P v. Sanders (1992) 10 Cal.App.4th 1268 (as state CMT case, not controlling but informative).</td>
<td>Even minor offenses probably deportable under DV ground as child abuse or neglect. To avoid agg felony, avoid 1-yr sentence; see Note &quot;Sentence.&quot; To avoid Agg Felony keep record of conviction clear of info establishing use of force; to avoid CMT keep record open to possibility that it was merely unreasonable action; see Note &quot;Record of Conviction.&quot; If this arose from traffic situation (lack of seatbelts, child unattended etc.), defendant can alternatively plead to traffic etc. offense without element involving minors and take counseling and other requirements as a condition of probation, without the offense acquiring immigration consequences.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal 273d</td>
<td>Child, Corporal Punishment</td>
<td>Yes AF as COV if 1-yr sentence imposed</td>
<td>Yes CMT</td>
<td>Deportable under DV ground for child abuse</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §273.5</td>
<td>Spousal Injury</td>
<td>Yes, AF as a COV only if 1-yr or more sentence imposed</td>
<td>Yes, CMT.</td>
<td>Deportable under DV ground regardless of sentence. Note: Court finding of violation of DV protective order also is DV deportable offense.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §281</td>
<td>Bigamy</td>
<td>Not AF</td>
<td>Yes CMT</td>
<td>No</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §288</td>
<td>Lewd act with child</td>
<td>Yes AF as sexual abuse of a minor, regardless of sentence.</td>
<td>Yes CMT</td>
<td>Deportable under the DV ground for child abuse</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §314(1)</td>
<td>Indecent exposure</td>
<td>Not AF</td>
<td>Probably CMT</td>
<td>No</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §403</td>
<td>Disturbance of public assembly or meeting</td>
<td>Not AF.</td>
<td>Not CMT.</td>
<td>No.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §415</td>
<td>Disturbing the peace</td>
<td>Not AF.</td>
<td>Probably not CMT</td>
<td>No.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal 416</td>
<td>Failure to disperse</td>
<td>Not AF</td>
<td>Not CMT.</td>
<td>No.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

AF = Aggravated Felony
COV = Crime of Violence
CMT = Crime Involving Moral Turpitude
DV = Domestic Violence
CS = Controlled Substance
ROC = Record of Conviction
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>CALIFORNIA CODE SECTION</th>
<th>OFFENSE</th>
<th>AGGRAVATED FELONY</th>
<th>CRIME INVOLVING MORAL TURPITUDE</th>
<th>OTHER DEPORTABLE, INADMISSIBLE GROUNDS</th>
<th>ADVICE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Penal §422</td>
<td>Criminal threats (formerly terrorist threats)</td>
<td>Yes AF as COV only if 1-yr or more sentence imposed. (Imm defense can at least argue that threat need not involve use of force, altho it involves injury)</td>
<td>Yes CMT</td>
<td>As COV, can be domestic violence offense if committed against DV type victim</td>
<td>Avoid AF by avoiding 1-yr sentence. See Note &quot;Sentence.&quot; To avoid COV see PC 236 or 136.1(b)(2), or 241(a) with no info regarding violence. See Note &quot;Safe Pleas.&quot; (Keep ROC clear of info re use of force (e.g. versus denying medication) to permit imm atty to argue not COV.)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal § 451</td>
<td>Arson</td>
<td>Yes AF as COV only if 1-yr or more sentence imposed</td>
<td>Yes CMT</td>
<td>As COV, can be domestic violence offense if committed against DV type victim</td>
<td>Avoid AF by avoiding 1-yr sentence; see Note &quot;Sentence.&quot; See vandalism.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §459, 460</td>
<td>Burglary</td>
<td>Burglary of a structure is AF with 1-yr sentence imposed. Burglary of a car (PC 460(b)) is not AF if record of conviction shows &quot;intent to commit larceny OR any felony,&quot; or if less than 1-yr sentence imposed.</td>
<td>Divisible between entry with intent to commit theft (CMT) or any felony (not a CMT as long as 'felony' is not defined as an offense that involves moral turpitude).</td>
<td>Where felony burglary is a COV and there is DV type victim, may be DV offense.</td>
<td>Keep record of conviction vague between structure, non-structure; and/or intent to commit theft, any felony. If 460(a) keep ROC vague between entry/illegal entry, but this is no guarantee of avoiding AF. See Notes &quot;Burglary and Theft&quot; and &quot;Record of Conviction.&quot; See PC 466.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal § 466</td>
<td>Poss burglary tools with intent to enter, altering keys, making or repairing instrument</td>
<td>Not AF.</td>
<td>Probably not CMT, unless ROC shows intent to commit CMT (felonious entry alone is not CMT) Altering, repairing instruments are not CMT.</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td>To avoid possibility of CMT, avoid specific intent on ROC other than felonious entry, or better keep record clear between intent and non-intent sections.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §470</td>
<td>Forgery</td>
<td>Yes AF if 1-yr sentence imposed</td>
<td>Yes CMT.</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td>Avoid AF by avoiding 1-yr sentence; see Note: Sentence. See P.C. 529(3) and Note &quot;Safe Pleas.&quot; If $10,000 loss to victim to fraud, see advice for PC 476(a).</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

AF = Aggravated Felony
COV = Crime of Violence
CMT = Crime Involving Moral Turpitude
CS = Controlled Substance
DV = Domestic Violence
ROC = Record of Conviction
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>CALIFORNIA CODE SECTION</th>
<th>OFFENSE</th>
<th>AGGRAVATED FELONY</th>
<th>CRIME INVOLVING MORAL TURPITUDE</th>
<th>OTHER DEPORTABLE, INADMISSIBLE GROUNDS</th>
<th>ADVICE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Penal §476(a)</td>
<td>Bad check with intent to defraud</td>
<td>Yes AF if the loss to the victim was $10,000 or more; also perhaps if 1-yr sentence imposed, as theft.</td>
<td>Yes CMT</td>
<td>No</td>
<td>Avoid AF by avoiding $10k loss in ROC, see Note &quot;Burglary, Theft and Fraud.&quot; See PC 529(c) to avoid AF, CMT. Avoid 1-yr sentence to avoid possible AF as theft.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §484 et seq., §487</td>
<td>Theft (petty or grand)</td>
<td>Divisible: theft of labor not &quot;theft&quot; for AF purposes. Other subsections are theft AF if 1-yr sentence imposed.</td>
<td>Yes CMT.</td>
<td>No</td>
<td>See Notes &quot;Theft, Fraud&quot; and &quot;CMT.&quot; In sum, to avoid AF, avoid 1 yr sent and see also PC 666; see Note &quot;Sentence.&quot; If fraud involved, see PC 529(3) and avoid $10,000 loss to victim. In minor offense try for 602.5. If first CMT, to qualify for petty offense exception to inadmissibility grnd reduce felony to misdo and/or plead petty theft; to avoid deportability plead petty theft or attempted misd grand theft to keep maximum possible sentence under 1 yr.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal 490.1</td>
<td>Petty theft (infraction)</td>
<td>Not AF.</td>
<td>Yes CMT.</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td>An infraction counts as a CMT offense. To avoid CMT see trespass PC 602.5.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §496</td>
<td>Receiving stolen property</td>
<td>Yes AF if 1-yr sentence imposed</td>
<td>Yes CMT</td>
<td>No</td>
<td>To avoid AF avoid 1-yr sentence; see Note &quot;Sentence.&quot;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal Code 529(3)</td>
<td>False personation</td>
<td>Appears not to be an AF.</td>
<td>Appears not to be CMT.</td>
<td>No</td>
<td>Possible alternate plea for fraud, forgery, counterfeit. See discussion in &quot;Note: Safer Pleas&quot;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §550(a)</td>
<td>Insurance fraud</td>
<td>Yes AF if offense involves fraud where victim lost $10,000 or more; perhaps AF as theft if 1-yr sentence imposed.</td>
<td>Yes CMT because fraudulent intent.</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td>See Note &quot;Burglary, Theft, Fraud.&quot; To avoid AF, avoid $10,00 in ROC. See PC 529(3) to avoid AF, CMT. Avoid 1-yr sentence to avoid possible AF as theft; see Note &quot;Sentence.&quot;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §594</td>
<td>Vandalism</td>
<td>Possible AF as COV if 1 yr sentence imposed.</td>
<td>Not CMT, except perhaps in case of severe costly damage.</td>
<td>If COV, domestic violence offense if committed against DV type victim. Immigration counsel will argue deportable DV offense must be force agnst person not property.</td>
<td>Relatively minor cases should have no consequences except possibly DV. See e.g. Rodriguez-Herrera v INS, 52 F.3d 238 (9th Cir. 1995) (Wash. statute not CMT) and US v Landeros-Gonzalez, 262 F.3d 424 (5th Cir 2001) (graffiti not COV). Avoid 1-yr sentence; see Note &quot;Sentence.&quot;</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

AF = Aggravated Felony
CS = Controlled Substance
COV = Crime of Violence
DV = Domestic Violence
CMT = Crime Involving Moral Turpitude
ROC = Record of Conviction
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>CALIFORNIA CODE SECTION</th>
<th>OFFENSE</th>
<th>AGGRAVATED FELONY</th>
<th>CRIME INVOLVING MORAL TURPITUDE</th>
<th>OTHER DEPORTABLE, INADMISSIBLE GROUNDS</th>
<th>ADVICE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Penal §602</td>
<td>Trespass misd (property damage, unlawful presence, etc.)</td>
<td>Not AF (even if COV, 1-yr sentence not possible)</td>
<td>Perhaps divisible. Some malicious destruction of prop offenses might be CMT; see cases in Advice to PC 594.</td>
<td>A COV is domestic violence offense if committed against DV type victim. Imm. counsel will argue must be force agnst person not property.</td>
<td>Keep record of conviction clear to avoid possible CMT. See PC 602.5.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §602.5</td>
<td>Trespass (unauthorized entry)</td>
<td>Not AF.</td>
<td>Not CMT.</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal 646.9</td>
<td>Stalking</td>
<td>Possible AF as COV if 1 yr sentence imposed.</td>
<td>Yes CMT</td>
<td>Deportable under the DV ground. Note that a court finding of violation of protective order also is DV deportable even absent conviction; see Note &quot;DV&quot;</td>
<td>Avoid AF by avoiding 1-yr sentence. See PC 236, 136.1(b)(2), 241(a) with no info regarding violence. See Notes &quot;Safer Pleas&quot; and &quot;Is Battery a Crime of Violence?&quot;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §647(a)</td>
<td>Disorderly: lewd or dissolute conduct in public</td>
<td>Not AF.</td>
<td>Older cases found CMT in homosexual behavior.</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td>Keep record of conviction clear of info that lewd intent was involved. See &quot;Note Record of Conviction.&quot; See 647(e)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §647(b)</td>
<td>Disorderly: Prostitution</td>
<td>Not AF.</td>
<td>Yes CMT for a prostitute. Probably not for a customer.</td>
<td>Prostitute, not customer, is inadmissible for &quot;engaging in&quot; prostitution.</td>
<td>To try to prevent CMT keep record of conviction vague between prostitute and customer. See 647(e)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §647(c), (e), (h)</td>
<td>Disorderly: Begging, loitering</td>
<td>Not AF.</td>
<td>Not CMT.</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §647(f)</td>
<td>Disorderly: Under the influence of drugs or alcohol</td>
<td>Not AF.</td>
<td>Not CMT.</td>
<td>Deportable and inadmissible for CS offense if ROC establishes specific CS</td>
<td>Keep record of conviction vague re whether a specific CS, as opposed to alcohol or other drug (or even unspecified CS), is involved.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §647(i)</td>
<td>Disorderly: &quot;Peeping Tom&quot;</td>
<td>Not AF.</td>
<td>Not CMT.</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal 647.7</td>
<td>Annoy, mole child</td>
<td>Yes AF as 'sexual abuse of a minor' regardless of sentence (no published case but defenders shd assume this)</td>
<td>Yes CMT.</td>
<td>Might be deportable under DV for child abuse.</td>
<td>To avoid AF plead to offense that doesn't combine age and sex like 243(a), 243.4.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

AF = Aggravated Felony
COV = Crime of Violence
CMT = Crime Involving Moral Turpitude
CS = Controlled Substance
DV = Domestic Violence
ROC = Record of Conviction
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>CALIFORNIA CODE SECTION</th>
<th>OFFENSE</th>
<th>AGGRAVATED FELONY</th>
<th>CRIME INVOLVING MORAL TURPITUDE</th>
<th>OTHER DEPORTABLE, INADMISSIBLE GROUNDS</th>
<th>ADVICE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Penal §666</td>
<td>Petty theft with a prior</td>
<td>Not AF even if enhanced sentence of more than 1 yr is imposed.</td>
<td>Yes CMT.</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td>See Note on &quot;Burglary and Theft.&quot; Since this is not AF, it's a possible substitute for grand theft with 1-yr sentence or more imposed.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §§ 1320(b), 1320.5</td>
<td>Failure to appear for felony</td>
<td>Yes AF if original felony's potential sentence is 2 yrs or more.</td>
<td>Probably not CMT</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td>Avoid AF by pleading to substantive offense not FTA</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §12020</td>
<td>Possession, manufacture, sale of prohibited weapons; carrying concealed dagger</td>
<td>Divisible: trafficking in firearms or explosives is AF; other offenses are not</td>
<td>Not CMT.</td>
<td>Offenses relating to firearms cause deportability under that grnd. Others (e.g., brass knuckles(a)(1), dagger (a)(4)) don't.</td>
<td>With careful record of conviction, this is an alternate plea to avoid firearms offense. Keep record of conviction vague as to whether weapon is firearm or other (to avoid firearms deportability grnd) or involves trafficking in firearms or destructive devices (to avoid AF). See Notes &quot;Safer Pleas&quot; and &quot;DV, Firearms&quot;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §12021</td>
<td>Possession of firearm by drug addict or felon</td>
<td>Yes AF regardless of sentence</td>
<td>Not CMT.</td>
<td>Deportable under the firearms ground.</td>
<td>See PC 12020, 245(a), 243(d), Note &quot;Safer Pleas.&quot;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal §§ Code 12025(a)(1), 12031(a)(1)</td>
<td>Carrying firearm</td>
<td>Not AF.</td>
<td>Not CMT.</td>
<td>Deportable under the firearms ground.</td>
<td>To avoid deportable for firearms, see PC 12020 and Note &quot;DV, Firearms.&quot;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vehicle 20</td>
<td>False statement to DMV</td>
<td>Not AF.</td>
<td>Possibly divisible, with knowingly conceal material fact a CMT</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td>To avoid CMT, keep record of conviction vague as to knowing concealment of material fact</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vehicle 2800.1</td>
<td>Flight from peace officer</td>
<td>Not AF</td>
<td>Probably not CMT</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td>Avoid an agg felony by reducing to a misdemeanor or obtaining sentence less than a year. Probably avoid CMT if ROC leaves open possibility wanton disregard finding based on prior traffic violations, or plea to 2800.1.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vehicle 2800.2</td>
<td>Flight from peace officer with wanton disregard for safety</td>
<td>May be AF if felony conviction with 1-yr sentence imposed, as a COV under 18 USC 16(b)</td>
<td>May be divisible: wanton disregard only by prior traffic violations not CMT, other wanton disregard may be CMT.</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td>Avoid an agg felony by reducing to a misdemeanor or obtaining sentence less than a year. Probably avoid CMT if ROC leaves open possibility wanton disregard finding based on prior traffic violations, or plea to 2800.1.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vehicle §10801-10803</td>
<td>Vehicles with altered ID numbers</td>
<td>Offense relating to trafficking in vehicles with altered VIN is AF if 1-yr or more sentence imposed.</td>
<td>Might be CMT</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td>Plead to PC 10852?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

AF = Aggravated Felony
COV = Crime of Violence
CMT = Crime Involving Moral Turpitude
CS = Controlled Substance
DV = Domestic Violence
ROC = Record of Conviction
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>CALIFORNIA CODE SECTION</th>
<th>OFFENSE</th>
<th>AGGRAVATED FELONY</th>
<th>CRIME INVOLVING MORAL TURPITUDE</th>
<th>OTHER DEPORTABLE, INADMISSIBLE GROUNDS</th>
<th>ADVICE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Vehicle §10851</td>
<td>Vehicle taking, temporary or permanent</td>
<td>Yes, AF as theft if one-year sentence is imposed.</td>
<td>Yes CMT if permanent intent, no if temporary intent.</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td>To avoid agg felony, avoid 1-yr sentence. To avoid CMT, keep record of conviction vague re permanent or temporary intent.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vehicle §10852</td>
<td>Tampering with a vehicle</td>
<td>Not AF.</td>
<td>Appears not CMT.</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td>To avoid possible AF, don’t let ROC show that tampering F96involved altering VIN.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vehicle §12500</td>
<td>Driving without license</td>
<td>Not AF.</td>
<td>Not CMT.</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vehicle §20001, 20003</td>
<td>Hit and run (felony)</td>
<td>Not AF.</td>
<td>Probably not CMT</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td>Despite lack of intent requirement it's conceivable reviewing authority would find CMT in failure to aid badly injured victim; keep record of conviction clear of info.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vehicle §20002(a)</td>
<td>Hit and run (misd)</td>
<td>Not AF.</td>
<td>Not CMT</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vehicle 23110(b)</td>
<td>Throw object into traffic</td>
<td>Yes AF as COV if 1-yr sentence imposed</td>
<td>Yes CMT.</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td>Avoid AF by avoiding 1-yr sentence imposed.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vehicle §23152</td>
<td>Driving under the influence (felony)</td>
<td>Not AF.</td>
<td>Not CMT.</td>
<td>No except multiple convictions can show evidence of alcoholism, a ground of inadmissibility.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vehicle §23153</td>
<td>Driving under the influence causing bodily injury</td>
<td>Not AF.</td>
<td>Not CMT.</td>
<td>See Vehicle 23152</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>W &amp; I §10980(c)(2)</td>
<td>Welfare fraud</td>
<td>Yes AF if loss to govt is $10,000 or more; also perhaps as theft if 1-yr or more sentence imposed.</td>
<td>Yes CMT.</td>
<td>No.</td>
<td>See Note &quot;Burglary, Theft, Fraud.&quot; To avoid AF, avoid $10,00 in ROC. See PC 529(3) to avoid AF, CMT. Avoid 1-yr sentence to avoid possible AF as theft; see Note &quot;Sentence.&quot;</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

AF = Aggravated Felony
COV = Crime of Violence
CMT = Crime Involving Moral Turpitude
CS = Controlled Substance
DV = Domestic Violence
ROC = Record of Conviction
NOTES ACCOMPANYING THE QUICK REFERENCE CHART FOR DETERMINING THE IMMIGRATION CONSEQUENCES OF SELECTED CALIFORNIA OFFENSES

Katherine Brady
Immigrant Legal Resource Center
Defending Immigrants Partnership

Table of Contents

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Record of Conviction</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sentence Solutions</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Immigration Consequences: Deportable, Inadmissible,</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Aggravated Felon (forthcoming)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Crimes Involving Moral Turpitude</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Drug Offenses</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Domestic Violence, Firearms, Prostitution</td>
<td>22</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Is Simple Battery a Crime of Violence?</td>
<td>24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Burglary, Theft and Fraud</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Analysis of Safer Offenses</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Client Immigration Questionnaire</td>
<td>37</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Additional Resources: Books, Websites, Services</td>
<td>39</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Note: Record of Conviction
And Divisible Statutes

For more information see California Criminal Law and Immigration, 2003 Update and §§ 4.10, 6.1, 9.5 and Note “Resources.”

Least adjudicable elements. To determine whether a given crime has an adverse immigration consequence such as being an aggravated felony or moral turpitude or drug offense, one looks not at the conduct of the defendant in question but rather at the crime as defined. The analysis begins with the elements of the crime as set forth in the statute and the case law of the jurisdiction applying the statute. The minimum or least offensive conduct violating the statute must involve the adverse immigration consequence in order for a conviction under the statute to have that consequence.

In some cases the statute may not state an element, but the element may have been provided by case law. For example, if a defense of guilty knowledge has arisen in the cases, the element of guilty knowledge becomes part of the definition of the crime. Ironically, case law that removes possible elements as a requirement for violating an offense can have a beneficial impact on immigration. When the California Supreme Court holds that false personation does not require any evil intent, it makes the offense a potential good plea for immigration purposes by classifying it as a non-fraudulent and non-turpitudinous offense. See discussion of P.C. 529(3) in Note “Safer Pleas.”

Divisible Statutes and the Record of Conviction. For immigration purposes a divisible statute is a criminal code section that includes some offenses that carry immigration penalties and some that do not. For example a code section may contain multiple subsections, some of which involve firearms and therefore trigger the firearms deportation ground and some of which do not. See e.g. P.C. § 245(a). It may define the crime in the disjunctive, such as sale (an aggravated felony) or offer to sell (not an aggravated felony) a controlled substance under H&S § 11352(a). Or a section may be so broadly or vaguely drawn that it could include different kinds of offenses, such as contributing to the delinquency of a minor under P.C. § 272.

Immigration or judicial authorities who are attempting to determine which offense under a divisible statute was actually the subject of a prior conviction can look only to information contained in the “record of conviction.” If there is insufficient information in the record of conviction to determine this, the reviewing authority must rule in favor of the immigrant. (This divisible statute and record of conviction doctrine in immigration law is similar to the “modified categorical approach” taken in federal criminal cases.)

2 See discussion in Taylor v. United States, 495 U.S. 575 (1990), U.S. v Rivera-Sanchez, infra, and in California Criminal Law and Immigration at § 9.5.
Example: Mr. Rivera-Sanchez was convicted under a California statute that punishes both selling and offering to sell controlled substances. Sale is an aggravated felony, but offering to sell is not. A court reviewing his prior record can look only to the official record of conviction to determine whether in fact he was convicted of sale or offer to sell. If information in the record of conviction fails to eliminate the possibility that he was convicted of offering to sell, then the reviewing authority cannot find that he was convicted of an aggravated felony. U.S. v. Rivera-Sanchez, 247 F.3d 905 (9th Cir. 2001)(en banc).

What documents make up the record of conviction? The record of conviction is strictly limited and includes only the charging papers, judgment or plea, and sentence. It does not include sources such as prosecutor’s remarks, police reports, or probation or “pre-sentence” report, or statements by the noncitizen outside of the judgment and sentence transcript (e.g., to police or immigration authorities). 3

A recent controversy has been resolved so as to uphold the traditional rule that a probation report is not included in the record of conviction. In United States v. Corona-Sanchez 4 the Ninth Circuit en banc affirmed that “a presentence report reciting the facts of the crime is insufficient evidence to establish that the defendant pled guilty to the elements of the generic definition of a crime when the statute of conviction is broader than the generic definition.” In Abreu-Reyes v. INS 5 decided four days later, however, a Ninth Circuit panel permitted an Immigration Judge’s use of a presentence report in an aggravated felony case alleging fraud of $10,000. But subsequent Ninth Circuit decisions have clarified that Abreu-Reyes was wrongly decided in ignorance of the Corona-Sanchez holding and should not be cited for that principle. 6

Information from a co-defendant’s case is not considered a part of the record of conviction for the offense at issue. The BIA found that where a wife was convicted of assault with intent to commit “any felony,” the immigration authorities could not look to her husband’s record of conviction to define the felony. 7 See also “How to control information in the record of conviction,” below.

When may the court look to the record of conviction? There has been some inconsistency in court decisions about when the court may look to the record of conviction. As stated above, the rule in reviewing a prior conviction is that if the least

---

3 See, e.g., Taylor v U.S., supra; Matter of Y, 1 I& N 137, 1941 WL 7929 (BIA 1941) (the report of a probation officer may not be considered in determining whether a crime involves moral turpitude) and similar cases discussed in California Criminal Law and Immigration at §§ 4.10, § 6.1(C), 9.5(B).
4 291 F.3d 1201, 1212 (9th Cir. 2001)(en banc).
5 Abreu-Reyes v. INS, 292 F.3d 1029 (9th Cir. 2002).
6 See Chang v INS, 307 F.3d 1185 (9th Cir. 2002) (recognizing tension between Abreu-Reyes and Corona-Sanchez, declines to use probation report that contradicts plea plea agreement), Huerta-Guevara v. INS, 321 F.3d 883 (9th Cir 2003)(declines to define offense by admission in brief because it is analogous to probation report which is not permitted under Corona-Sanchez), and Hernandez-Martinez v Ashcroft 239 F.3d 1117 (9th Cir. 8/11/03) (specifically states that Abreu-Reyes is wrongly decided and should not be followed). adjudicable element does not involve adverse consequences, then consequences do not adhere. A court looks to the record of conviction only when it needs to identify which elements of an offense in a divisible statute actually were the subject of the conviction. But some decisions have begun to mix the concept of the broadly worded statute that includes divisible offenses and requires a record of conviction to identify elements of the offense of conviction, with statutes with identified elements that simply include a range of fact situations. For example in USA v Belless (digested in Note “Is Battery a Crime of Violence?”), the court determined that simple battery could be found by mere offensive touching, and then determined that the record of conviction should be consulted to see whether the touching was more or less violent. Under the traditional view, the mere touching was the least adjudicable element and the inquiry should have ended there.

In practice the bottom line is: it’s not always possible to predict when a court will go to the record of conviction. For this reason it is often to the defendant’s advantage to keep the record of conviction clear of damaging information, even if it appears that the least adjudicable elements do not carry an immigration penalty. The Chart identifies particular offenses when this may be especially important.

How to control information in the record of conviction. Counsel may bargain for substitute or amended charging papers that cover a fuller range of offenses and/or include fewer facts than the original. Charges repeating the statute in its entirety in the disjunctive can be bargained for like any concession. If the charge is wrongly phrased in the conjunctive (“and”) while the statute is in the disjunctive (“or”), the defendant should make a plea agreement in the disjunctive, for example “I admit to entry with intent to commit larceny or any felony.”

Important information should be set out in the plea agreement or colloquy. For example the Ninth Circuit decided that in a case where the plea agreement specified the loss to the victim in the count of conviction was $600, the fact that restitution of over $10,000 was ordered (based on losses alleged in dismissed counts) did not establish the offense as one in which the “loss to the victim” was $10,000.

Information from the record of conviction should not be used to add in elements that are not part of the offense. Thus the BIA held that a defendant convicted of an assault offense that had no element of use of a firearm was not deportable under the firearms ground, even though he plead guilty to an indictment that alleged he assaulted the victim with a gun.

---

8 See discussion of “modified categorical approach” in Taylor, supra at 2159-60, and in Chang, supra at [2].
9 338 F.3d 1063 (9th Cir. 2003).
10 Chang v INS, supra.
I. Definition of Sentence, Getting to 364 Days

II. The Effect of Sentence Enhancements

I. Definition of Sentence; Getting to 364 Days

Offenses that are aggravated felonies based on a one-year sentence. The following offenses are aggravated felonies if and only if a sentence to imprisonment of one year was imposed. Obtaining a sentence of 364 days or less will prevent them from being aggravated felonies.12

- Crime of violence, defined under 18USC § 16
- Theft (including receipt of stolen property)
- Burglary
- Bribery of a witness
- Commercial bribery
- Counterfeiting
- Forgery
- Trafficking in vehicles which have had their VIN numbers altered
- Obstruction of justice
- Perjury, subornation of perjury
- Falsifying documents or trafficking in false documents (with an exception for a first offense for which the alien affirmatively shows that the offense was committed for the purpose of assisting, abetting, or aiding only the alien’s spouse, child or parent)

Even a misdemeanor offense with a suspended one-year sentence imposed is an aggravated felony.

Note that many other offenses are aggravated felonies regardless of sentence imposed, such as offenses relating to drug trafficking, firearms, sexual abuse of a minor, or rape. For example, conviction of possession for sale is an aggravated felony regardless of sentence.

Definition of “sentence imposed” for immigration purposes. The immigration statute defines sentence imposed as the “period of incarceration or confinement ordered by a court of law, regardless of suspension of the imposition or execution of that imprisonment in whole or in part.”13

- This language refers to the sentence actually imposed, not to potential sentence.

---

12 See INA §101(a)(43), 8 USC § 1101(a)(43), subsections (F), (G), (P), (R), and (S).
• It does not include the period of probation or parole.

• It includes the entire sentence imposed even if all or part of the execution of the sentence has been suspended. Where imposition of suspension is suspended, it includes any period of jail time ordered by a judge as a condition of probation.

• Time imposed by recidivist sentence enhancements (e.g., petty with a prior) are not counted as part of the sentence imposed; see Part B below.

• The time served after a probation or parole violation is included within the “sentence imposed.”

Example: The judge suspends imposition of sentence, orders three years probation, and requires jail time of four months as a condition of probation. The defendant is released from jail after three months with time off for good behavior. For immigration purposes the “sentence imposed” was four months. However, if this defendant then violates probation and an additional 10 months is added to the sentence, she will have a total “sentence imposed” of 14 months. If this is the kind of offense that will be made an aggravated felony by a one-year sentence imposed, she would do better to take a new conviction instead of the P.V. and have the time imposed for that.

Example: The judge imposes a sentence of two years but suspends execution of all but 13 months. For immigration purposes the “sentence imposed” was two years.

How to get to 364 days or less. Often counsel can avoid having an offense classed as an aggravated felony by creative plea bargaining. The key is to avoid any one count from being punished by a one-year sentence, if the offense is the type that will be made an aggravated felony by sentence. If needed, counsel can still require significant jail time for the defendant. If immigration concerns are important, counsel might:

• bargain for 364 days on a single conviction;
• plead to two or more counts, with less than a one year sentence imposed for each, to be served consecutively;
• plead to an additional or substitute offense that does not become an aggravated felony due to sentence, and take the jail time on that;
• waive credit for time already served or prospective “good time” credits and persuade the judge to take this into consideration in imposing a shorter official

---

14 See, e.g., United States v. Jimenez, 258 F.3d 1120 (9th Cir. 2001) (a defendant sentenced to 365 days probation who then violated the terms of his probation and was sentenced to two years imprisonment had been sentenced to more than one year for purposes of the definition of an aggravated felony).
sentence, that will result in the same amount of time actually incarcerated as under the originally proposed sentence;

- rather than take a probation violation that adds time to the sentence for the original conviction, ask for a new conviction and take the time on the new count.

Vacating a sentence nunc pro tunc and imposing a revised sentence of less than 365 days will prevent the conviction from being considered an aggravated felony.¹⁵

The petty offense exception. The above definition of “sentence imposed” also applies to persons attempting to qualify for the petty offense exception to the moral turpitude ground of inadmissibility, which holds that a person who has committed only one crime involving moral turpitude is not inadmissible if the offense has a maximum possible one-year sentence and a sentence imposed of six months or less.¹⁶ See Note “Crime Involving Moral Turpitude.”

II. The Effect of Recidivist and Other Sentence Enhancements

The Ninth Circuit held that where a sentence enhancement is imposed for recidivist behavior, only the maximum possible sentence for the original unenhanced offense will count in calculating whether a one-year sentence has been imposed to create an aggravated felony. In the case of the recidivist sentence enhancement under P.C. §§ 484, 666 (“petty theft with a prior”), the maximum possible sentence for the core offense of petty theft is six months. The Court therefore found that even though the defendant had been sentenced to two years under the § 666 enhancement provisions, he was not convicted of the aggravated felony offenses of theft with a one-year sentence imposed. United States v. Corona-Sanchez, 291 F.3d 1201 (9th Cir. 2002)(en banc).

While we have secure law on sentence enhancements based on prior conviction for the same act, it is not known to what extent this rule also might apply to non-recidivist enhancements.

---

Note: Aggravated Felonies

For more information see California Criminal Law and Immigration, Chapter 9, Tooby, Aggravated Felonies, and Note “Resources”

A. Definition of Aggravated Felony.

Aggravated felonies are defined at 8 USC § 1101(a)(43), which is a list of dozens of common-law terms and references to federal statutes. Federal and state offenses can be aggravated felonies, as can foreign offenses unless the resulting imprisonment ended more than 15 years earlier. See alphabetical listing of aggravated felonies and citations at Part D of this Note.

Where a federal criminal statute is cited in the aggravated felony definition, a state offense is an aggravated felony only if all of the elements of the state offense are included in the federal offense. It is not necessary for the state offense to contain the federal jurisdictional element of the federal statute (crossing state lines, affecting inter-state commerce) to be a sufficient match. See, e.g., U.S. v. Castillo-Rivera, 244 F.3d 1020 (9th Cir. 2001)(Calif. P.C. § 12021(a)(1) is an aggravated felony as an analogue 18 USC § 922(b)(1)). Where the aggravated felony is identified by a general or common law terms -- such as theft, burglary, sexual abuse of a minor – courts will create a standard “generic” definition setting out the elements of the offense. To be an aggravated felony, a state offense must be entirely covered by the generic definition. See, e.g., discussion of burglary and theft in Note “Burglary, Theft and Fraud.” It is especially difficult to determine whether a specific state offense will be held an aggravated felony when a court has not yet created the “generic” standard.

B. Penalties for Conviction: Barred from Immigration Applications.

Conviction of an aggravated felony brings the most severe punishments possible under immigration laws. The conviction causes deportability and moreover bars eligibility for almost any kind of relief or waiver that would stop the deportation. In contrast, a noncitizen who is “merely” deportable or inadmissible might qualify for a waiver or application that would preserve current lawful status or permit the person to obtain new status.

Example: Marco has been a permanent resident for 20 years and has six U.S. citizen children. He is convicted of an aggravated felony, possession for sale of marijuana. He will be deported. The aggravated felony conviction bars him from applying for the basic waiver “cancellation of removal” for long-time permanent residents who are merely deportable.

There are some immigration remedies for persons convicted of an aggravated felony, but they are limited and determining eligibility is highly complex. See discussion in California Criminal Law and Immigration at § 9.2. The following are some important options. Persons convicted of an aggravated felony who have the equivalent of a very strong asylum claim can apply to stop a deportation under 8 USC § 1231(b)(3) and the U.N. Convention Against Torture. Persons who were not permanent residents at the time of conviction, and whose aggravated felony does not involve controlled substances, might be able to adjust status (become a permanent resident) through a close U.S. citizen or permanent resident family member with a waiver under 8 USC § 1182(h). An aggravated felony conviction is not a bar to applying for the “T” or “U” visas for persons who are victims of alien smuggling or a serious crime and who cooperate with authorities in prosecuting the crime. See 8 USC § 1101(a)(15)(T) and (U). Permanent residents who before April 24, 1996 pled guilty to an aggravated felony that didn’t involve firearms may be able to obtain a waiver under the former § 212(c) relief, but may be unable to waive any ground of deportability that has arisen since that time. See INS v St. Cyr, 121 S.Ct. 2271 (2001) and practice guides at www.ailf.org. For immigration relief generally see California Criminal Law and Immigration, Chapter 11.

C. Penalties for Conviction: Federal Offense of Illegal Re-entry.

A noncitizen who is convicted of an aggravated felony, deported or removed, and then returns to the U.S. without permission can be sentenced to up to 20 years in federal prison under 8 USC § 1326(b)(2). This applies even to persons whose aggravated felonies were relatively minor offenses, such as felony simple possession. In California, illegal re-entry cases represent more than 25% of federal public defenders’ caseloads. Criminal defense counsel must warn their clients of the severe penalty for re-entry.

Example: After his removal to Mexico, Marco illegally re-enters the U.S. to join his family and maintain his business. One night he is picked up for drunk driving and immigration authorities identify him in a routine check for persons with Hispanic last names in county jails. Marco is transferred to federal custody and eventually pleads to illegal re-entry and receives a three-year federal prison sentence.

Aggravated felons face additional penalties such as mandatory immigration detention, limitations on the right to federal appeal, and, if the person is not a permanent resident, possible removal by decision of a non-attorney immigration officer without even a hearing before an immigration judge.

D. List of Aggravated Felonies

Every offense should be suspiciously examined until it is determined that it is not an aggravated felony. While some offenses only become aggravated felonies by virtue of a sentence imposed of a year or more (see Note “Sentences”), others are regardless of sentence. Outside of some drug offenses, even misdemeanor offenses can be held to be aggravated felonies.

The following is a list of the offenses referenced in 8 USC § 1101(a)(43) arranged in alphabetical order. The capital letter following the offense refers to the subsection of § 1101(a)(43) where the offense appears.
Aggravated Felonies under 8 USC § 1101(a)(43)
(displayed alphabetically)

- alien smuggling - smuggling, harboring, or transporting of aliens except for a first offense in which the person smuggled was the parent, spouse or child. (N)

- attempt to commit an aggravated felony (U)

- bribery of a witness - if the term of imprisonment is at least one year. (S)

- burglary - if the term of imprisonment is at least one year. (G)

- child pornography - (I)

- commercial bribery - if the term of imprisonment is at least one year. (R)

- conspiracy to commit an aggravated felony (U)

- counterfeiting - if the term of imprisonment is at least one year. (R)

- crime of violence as defined under 18 USC 16 resulting in a term of at least one year imprisonment, if it was not a "purely political offense." (F)

- destructive devices - trafficking in destructive devices such as bombs or grenades. (C)

- drug offenses - any offense generally considered to be "drug trafficking," plus cited federal drug offenses and analogous felony state offenses. (B)

- failure to appear - to serve a sentence if the underlying offense is punishable by a term of 5 years, or to face charges if the underlying sentence is punishable by 2 years. (Q and T)

- false documents - using or creating false documents, if the term of imprisonment is at least twelve months, except for the first offense which was committed for the purpose of aiding the person's spouse, child or parent. (P)

- firearms - trafficking in firearms, plus several federal crimes relating to firearms and state analogues. (C)

- forgery - if the term of imprisonment is at least one year. (R)

- fraud or deceit offense if the loss to the victim exceeds $10,000. (M)
• illegal re-entry after deportation or removal for conviction of an aggravated felony (O)

• money laundering - money laundering and monetary transactions from illegally derived funds if the amount of funds exceeds $10,000, and offenses such as fraud and tax evasion if the amount exceeds $10,000. (D)

• murder - (A)

• national defense - offenses relating to the national defense, such as gathering or transmitting national defense information or disclosure of classified information. (L)(i)

• obstruction of justice if the term of imprisonment is at least one year. (S)

• perjury or suboration of perjury - if the term of imprisonment is at least one year. (S)

• prostitution - offenses such as running a prostitution business. (K)

• ransom demand - offense relating to the demand for or receipt of ransom. (H)

• rape - (A)

• receipt of stolen property if the term of imprisonment is at least one year (G)

• revealing identity of undercover agent - (L)(ii)

• RICO offenses - if the offense is punishable with a one-year sentence. (J)

• sabotage - (L)(i)

• sexual abuse of a minor - (A)

• slavery - offenses relating to peonage, slavery and involuntary servitude. (K)(iii)

• tax evasion if the loss to the government exceeds $10,000 (M)

• theft - if the term of imprisonment is at least one year. (G)

• trafficking in vehicles with altered identification numbers if the term of imprisonment is at least one year. (R)

• treason - federal offenses relating to national defense, treason (L)
Note: Crimes Involving Moral Turpitude

For more information see California Criminal Law and Immigration, Chapter 4 and Annotated Chart, and Tooby, Crimes Involving Moral Turpitude

Overview. Classification as a crime involving moral turpitude (“CMT”) is based on the elements of the offense, not the facts of the case. Generally an offense involves moral turpitude if it contains elements of fraud, theft, intent to cause great bodily harm, and sometimes lewdness, recklessness or malice. Felony/misdemeanor classification is not determinative unless the felony and misdemeanor have different elements. State court rulings on moral turpitude for impeachment purposes are not controlling for immigration. Because the definition of moral turpitude is nebulous there often is uncertainty as to whether an offense will be held to be a CMT. For more discussion of specific offenses, see the annotated chart of California offenses in Brady, California Criminal Law and Immigration, see Tooby, Crimes Involving Moral Turpitude; and other works in Note “Resources.” If a statute is divisible for moral turpitude – meaning it punishes some offenses that are CMT’s and others that are not -- the reviewing authority can look only to the record of conviction to determine whether the conviction was for the turpitudinous section. See Note “Record of Conviction.”

Whether a noncitizen becomes deportable or inadmissible under the CMT grounds depends on the number of CMT convictions, potential or imposed sentence, and date offense was committed. Convictions of offenses that do not involve moral turpitude – e.g. drunk driving, simple assault – do not affect this analysis.

Deportation Ground, 8 USC § 1227(a)(2)(A)(i), (ii)

A noncitizen is deportable for one conviction of a crime involving moral turpitude (“CMT”) if she committed the offense within five years of her last “admission” to the United States, and if the offense carries a potential sentence of one year.

A felony/misdemeanor that is reduced to a misdemeanor under P.C. § 17 retains a potential one-year sentence and can be a basis for deportability. If counsel can bargain to a six-month misdemeanor, or to attempt of a wobbler that is then reduced to a misdemeanor, the offense will have only a six-month maximum penalty. See Note “Sentences” on how to provide for the maximum possible jail time, if that is required, even under a reduced potential sentence.

Example: Marta was last admitted to the United States in 2000. In 2003 she committed a theft, her first CMT. If she is convicted of misdemeanor grand theft she will be deportable: she’ll have been convicted of a CMT committed within five years of her last admission that has a potential sentence of a year. If she is convicted of petty theft or attempted misdemeanor grand theft she will not be deportable, because both have a maximum possible sentence of six months. If Marta had waited until 2006 to commit the offense she would not be deportable regardless of potential sentence, because it would be outside the five years.
A noncitizen is deportable for two or more convictions of crimes involving moral turpitude that occur anytime after admission, unless the convictions are “purely political” or arise in a “single scheme of criminal misconduct” (often interpreted to exclude almost anything but two charges from the same incident).

Example: Stan was admitted to the U.S. in 1992. He was convicted of assault with a deadly weapon in 1998 and passing a bad check in 2003. Regardless of the potential or actual imposed sentences, he is deportable for conviction of two moral turpitude offenses since his admission.

Ground of Inadmissibility, 8 USC § 1182(a)(2)(A)

A noncitizen is inadmissible who is convicted of one crime involving moral turpitude, whether before or after admission. There are two important exceptions to the rule.

Petty offense exception. If a noncitizen (a) has committed only one moral turpitude offense ever, (b) the offense carries a potential sentence of a year or less, and (c) the “sentence imposed” was less than six months, the person is automatically not inadmissible for moral turpitude.

Example: Freia is convicted of felony grand theft, the only CMT offense she’s ever committed. (She also has been convicted of drunk driving, but as a non-CMT that does not affect this analysis.) The conviction is reduced to a misdemeanor under P.C. § 17. The judge gives her three years probation, suspends imposition of sentence, and orders her to spend one month in jail as a condition of probation. She is released after 15 days. Freia comes within the petty offense exception. She has committed only one CMT, it has a potential sentence of a year or less, and the sentence imposed was one month. (For more information about calculating sentence imposed, see Note “Sentence.”)

Youthful Offender exception. A disposition in juvenile delinquency proceedings is not a conviction and has no relevance to moral turpitude determinations. But persons who were convicted as adults for acts they committed while under the age of 18 can benefit from the youthful offender exception. A noncitizen who committed only one CMT ever, and while under the age of 18, ceases to be inadmissible as soon as five years have passed since the conviction or release from resulting imprisonment.

Example: Raoul was convicted as an adult for felony assault with a deadly weapon, based on an incident that took place when he was 17. He was sentenced to a year and was released from imprisonment when he was 19 years old. He now is 24 years old. Unless and until he is convicted of another moral turpitude offense, he is not inadmissible for moral turpitude.

---

18 Reducing a felony to a misdemeanor will give the offense a maximum possible sentence of one year for purposes of the petty offense exception. LaFarga v INS, 170 F.3d 1213 (9th Cir 1999).

Inadmissible for making a formal admission of a crime involving moral turpitude. This ground does not often come up in practice. A noncitizen who makes a formal admission to officials of all of the elements of a CMT is inadmissible even if there is no conviction. This does not apply if the case was brought to criminal court but resolved in a disposition that is less than a conviction (e.g., charges dropped, conviction vacated).²⁰ Counsel should avoid having clients formally admit to offenses that are not charged with.

---

²⁰ See, e.g., Matter of CYC, 3 I&N 623 (BIA 1950) (dismissal of charges overcomes independent admission) and discussion in California Criminal Law and Immigration § 4.4.
Note: Drug Offenses

For further discussion see California Criminal Law and Immigration, Chapter 3 and §9.15, and Note “Resources”

Part I: Overview of Penalties for Drug Offenses

Aggravated felony. A controlled substance offense can be an aggravated felony in either of two ways: (1) if it is an offense (and at least arguably a California felony) that meets the general definition of trafficking, such as sale or possession for sale, or (2) if it is a California felony offense that is analogous to a federal drug crime referenced in the aggravated felony definition whether or not it involves trafficking, such as simple possession, cultivation, or some prescription offenses. See 8 USC § 1101(a)(43)(B).

Deportability grounds. Conviction of any offense “relating to” controlled substances, or attempt or conspiracy to commit such an offense, causes deportability under 8 USC § 1227(a)(2)(B)(i). A noncitizen who has been a drug addict or abuser since admission to the United States is deportable under 8 USC § 1227(a)(2)(B)(ii), regardless of whether there is a conviction.

Inadmissibility grounds. Conviction of any offense “relating to” controlled substances or attempt or conspiracy to commit such an offense causes inadmissibility under 8 USC § 1182(a)(2)(A)(i)(II). In addition conduct can cause inadmissibility even absent a conviction. A noncitizen who is a “current” drug addict or abuser is inadmissible. 8 USC § 1182(a)(1)(A)(iv). A noncitizen is inadmissible if immigration authorities have probative and substantial “reason to believe” that she ever has been or assisted a drug trafficker in trafficking activities, or if she is the spouse or child of a trafficker who benefited from the trafficking within the last five years. 8 USC § 1182(a)(2)(C). A less frequently used section provides that a noncitizen is inadmissible if she formally admits all of the elements of a controlled substance conviction. 8 USC § 1182(a)(2)(A)(i). The latter does not apply, however, if the charge was brought up in criminal court and resulted in something less than a conviction21 (e.g., if the person pled guilty to simple possession but the conviction was effectively eliminated according to Lujan-Armendariz, discussed below.)

Part II: Simple Possession or Less

1. A conviction for even a minor offense relating to controlled substances -- such as simple possession or under the influence -- will make a noncitizen deportable

---

21 See, e.g., Matter of CYC, 3 I&N 623 (BIA 1950) (dismissal of charges overcomes independent admission) and discussion in California Criminal Law and Immigration § 4.4.
Immigrant Legal Resource Center
September 2003

and inadmissible. See 8 USC §§ 1182(a)(2)(A), 1227(a)(2)(B)(ii). There is an exception for one conviction of simple possession of less than 30 gms of marijuana: the person is not deportable and a waiver of inadmissibility under 8 USC § 1182(h) might be available.

2. A conviction for simple possession of a controlled substance that is a felony under California law is an aggravated felony; a California misdemeanor simple possession is not an aggravated felony. (The standard is that a simple possession -- or other “non-trafficking” offense that is an aggravated felony only by virtue of being an analogue to a federal offense -- must have a potential sentence of more than a year under the law of the convicting jurisdiction to be an aggravated felony.) Thus one California felony conviction for simple possession is an aggravated felony, while one or more California misdemeanor convictions for simple possession are not aggravated felonies. Matter of Yanez-Garcia 23 I&N 390 (BIA 2002), Matter of Santos-Lopez, 23 I&N 419 (BIA 2002), U.S. v. Robles-Rodriguez, 281 F.3d 900 (9th Cir. 2002), U.S. v. Arrellano-Torres, 303 F.3d 1173 (9th Cir. 2002).

3. But if there are no prior controlled substance convictions, a first conviction for simple possession (felony or misdemeanor) that is eliminated under rehabilitative provisions such as DEJ, Prop 36, or P.C. § 1203.4, also is eliminated for immigration purposes. Lujan-Armedariz v INS, 222 F.3d 728 (9th Cir. 2000). This also works if the first conviction is for an offense less serious than simple possession, such as being under the influence or possessing paraphernalia. Cardenas-Uriarte v. INS, 227 F.3d 1132 (9th Cir. 2000).

Except for the special situation of first offense simple possession or less, any “rehabilitative relief” (i.e., withdrawal of the plea after probation not based on legal error such as DEJ, Prop 36 or P.C. § 1203.4) has no effect for immigration purposes, even though state law may consider the conviction to be utterly eliminated. In particular, Prop 36 provides no special immigration protection outside of this special case of a first offense simple possession or less. And to get the special benefit the defendant must actually complete the process and have the plea withdrawn.

4. A second conviction for simple possession that is a California felony is an aggravated felony, and it cannot be easily eliminated by DEJ, etc. To avoid this aggravated felony reduce the felony to a misdemeanor where that is permitted, or seek an alternate plea: attempt to plead down to non-federal analogues such as under the influence or presence in a place where drugs are used; plead to a “safe haven” such as P.C. § 32 or an offense where the drug is not named; or consider pleading up to offering to transport/transportation for personal use. Offering to commit any drug offense is not an aggravated felony, and immigration counsel at least can argue that it is not a deportable or, in the case of transportation, inadmissible offense. See further discussion in Part III.
5. Drug addiction and abuse. A person is inadmissible if she is a “current” drug addict or abuser, and deportable if she has been one at any time since admission to the United States. Dispositions such as drug court or CRC placement that require admission of drug abuse or addiction will trigger these grounds. While in various immigration contexts more relief might be available to someone deportable for this than for a straight conviction, this still can have serious consequences and each case should be analyzed separately.

6. Case Examples:
   - Marta is convicted of felony possession of cocaine, her first offense. This is an aggravated felony. If she withdraws the plea under P.C. § 1203.4, Prop 36 provisions, DEJ or similar means, the conviction will be eliminated for all immigration purposes.
   - Marta is convicted of her second possession offense, a misdemeanor conviction for possession of marijuana. Relief under P.C. § 1203.4 etc. will not eliminate the conviction for immigration purposes because it is not her first simple possession offense: therefore she is now deportable and inadmissible for having a drug conviction. However, because the offense is a California misdemeanor rather than a felony, she at least will not have an aggravated felony on her record; had the offense been a felony she would have to struggle to find an alternate plea.
   - Sami is convicted of being in a place where drugs are used, his first drug conviction ever. He withdraws his plea under P.C. § 1203.4 and the offense is eliminated for immigration purposes.
   - Jim is convicted of possession for sale, an aggravated felony. If immigration issues are paramount, he might want to consider pleading up to offer to sell. See Part III.

Part III: Sale and Other Offenses Beyond Possession

1. Sale/Transport/Offering
2. Other Safe Havens: Accessory and Unidentified Controlled Substance
3. Prescription Forgeries
4. Post-Conviction Relief
5. Inadmissible for “reason to believe” trafficking
6. Case Examples

1. Sale/Transport/Offering.

   Offering to sell a controlled substance is not an aggravated felony drug trafficking offense, while sale is. Therefore California offenses such as H&S §§ 11352(a), 11360(a), and 11379(a) are divisible statutes, containing some offenses that are and some that are not a drug trafficking aggravated felony. If the “record of conviction” leaves open the possibility that the conviction was for offering, then the conviction is not an aggravated felony. U.S. v. Rivera-Sanchez, 247 F.3d 905 (9th Cir. 2001)(en banc). This means that with aggressive defense work it may be possible for the defendant to escape an aggravated felony (and possibly escape becoming deportable or even inadmissible for a drug conviction), while pleading guilty under these sections.
The record of conviction consists of the charging papers, transcript of judgment or plea colloquy and sentence, but does not include prosecutor’s remarks, police reports, or pre-sentence/probation reports. See Note “Record of Conviction.”

Defense goal: A very good plea would be to the entire statute phrased in the disjunctive so that it includes offer to sell, distribute, transport. That prevents the conviction from being an aggravated felony. Rivera-Sanchez, supra. Further, immigration counsel would have a good argument (but not one guaranteed to win) that the offense also does not even make the person deportable or inadmissible. (See discussion of Rivera-Sanchez and Coronado-Durazo v INS, 123 F.3d 1322 (9th Cir 1997) in California Criminal Law and Immigration 2003 Update to § 3.1-3.3)

If the record of conviction only leaves open the possibility that the offense was offering to sell, then the conviction is not an aggravated felony, and immigration counsel still can argue that it is not a deportable or inadmissible conviction. However, a conviction of offering to sell still leaves the defendant inadmissible by giving the government “reason to believe” the person has been a drug trafficker. See part 5 below. This is why it is best to leave open the additional possibility that the person was convicted of transportation for personal use or offering to transport, which is not a trafficking offense or aggravated felony (see discussion next part).

Example: The charging paper tracks the language of § 11360, charging sale, distribute, transport, or offer to sell, distribute, transport. If needed, defense counsel bargains for a substitute complaint containing this vague language, or clarifies this during the plea colloquy. Defendant simply pleads guilty and is sentenced. The record of conviction here does not prove that the defendant was convicted of sale or transport as opposed to offer to sell or transport. Therefore the offense is not an aggravated felony (and arguably not a deportable or even inadmissible offense).

Transportation. Transportation for personal use also is included in H&S §§ 11352(a), 11360(a) and 1379(a). It should not be held an aggravated felony since it does not involve trafficking and is not analogous to a listed federal offense. See discussion in U.S. v Casarez-Bravo, 181 F.3d 1074, 1077 (9th Cir. 1999) and Calif. Criminal Law and Immigration 2003 Update to § 3.1. It is, however, a drug conviction that will make the person inadmissible and deportable. Arguably conviction for offering to transport has no immigration consequences: it is not trafficking, and as discussed above immigration counsel can argue that offering to commit a drug offense is not a conviction relating to controlled substances making the person deportable or inadmissible. This is why the best plea to the § 11352(a)-type offense is to the entire section in the disjunctive.

Possession for Sale. Possession for sale under California law has none of the advantages of the sale offenses discussed above, in that it does not include “offering.” It is an aggravated felony and a deportable and inadmissible offense. Counsel should seek an alternate plea: attempt to plead down to a first offense or at least misdemeanor simple possession or to under the influence or presence in a place where drugs are used; plead to a “safe haven” such as P.C. § 32 or an offense where the drug is not named; or consider pleading up to offering to sell, in order to avoid the aggravated felony.

2. Other Safe Havens: Accessory and Unidentified Controlled Substance

Accessory after the Fact is a good alternate plea to a drug offense. Being an accessory to a drug offense is not considered an offense “relating to controlled substances” and so does not make the non-citizen deportable or inadmissible for having a drug conviction. Neither is it an aggravated felony, as long as a sentence of a year or more is not imposed. Matter of Batista-Hernandez, 21 I&N 955 (BIA 1997). There is some chance, however, that the government will assert that the act of hiding a drug trafficker after he has completed the trafficking is aiding or colluding in the trafficking, and will assert that the conviction gives them “reason to believe” the person is inadmissible under that ground. See “reason to believe trafficking” below.

Where the Controlled Substance is Not Identified. If the controlled substance in the case is not specifically identified – either in the record of conviction or the terms of the statute – then the government is deemed unable to prove that the offense involved controlled substances and there are no immigration consequences. Matter of Paulus, 11 I&N 274 (BIA 1965).

Example: The defender bargains for a substitute complaint that does not identify the controlled substance involved, which is not identified under the terms of the statute. Even if the offense involved sale, it would not be an aggravated felony or a deportable or inadmissible offense or give the government “reason to believe” trafficking in controlled substances.

3. Forged or fraudulent prescriptions

A California felony conviction for obtaining a controlled substance by a forged or fraudulent prescription may be an aggravated felony because it is analogous to the federal offense of obtaining a controlled substance by fraud under 21 USC § 843(a)(3) (acquire or obtain possession of a controlled substance by misrepresentation, fraud, forgery, deception, or subterfuge). Obtaining a misdemeanor conviction, or reducing a felony to a misdemeanor ought to avoid aggravated felony status (although the offense still will cause deportability and inadmissibility as a drug conviction). See U.S. v. Robles-Rodriguez, U.S. v. Arrellano-Torres, supra (offense that by law has a maximum possible sentence of a year is not a felony for this purpose), and LaFarga v. INS, 170 F.3d 1213 (9th Cir. 1999) (in moral turpitude context, reduction under P.C. 17 has effect of creating a maximum one-year sentence for immigration purposes).

A conviction for any forgery offense where a one-year sentence is imposed is an aggravated felony under 8 USC § 1101(a)(43)(R).
4. Post-conviction Relief.

Relief that eliminates a conviction not based on legal error – such as “rehabilitative” withdrawal of plea under DEJ, Prop 36 (P.C. § 1210.1) or P.C. § 1203.4 -- will not eliminate any of the above convictions for immigration purposes. It will only work on a first conviction for simple possession or a less serious offense. See discussion of Lujan-Armendariz v INS in Part II, supra. Vacation of judgment for cause will eliminate these convictions so that the person no longer will have an aggravated felony or be deportable based on the conviction. See writings by Norton Tooby on obtaining post-conviction relief in Note “Resources.” The person still might remain inadmissible, however, if the record in the case gives immigration authorities “reason to believe” that the person may ever have been or assisted a drug trafficker. See “Inadmissible” below.

5. Inadmissible for “reason to believe” trafficking.

A noncitizen is inadmissible if immigration authorities have “reason to believe” that she ever has been or assisted a drug trafficker. 8 USC § 1182(a)(2)(C). A conviction is not necessary, but a conviction or substantial underlying evidence showing sale or offer to sell will alert immigration officials and serve as reason to believe. Because “reason to believe” does not depend upon proof by conviction, the government is not limited to the record of conviction and may seek out police or probation reports or use defendant’s out-of-court statements.

Who is hurt by being inadmissible? Being inadmissible affects permanent residents and undocumented persons differently. For undocumented persons the penalty is quite severe: it is almost impossible ever to obtain permanent residency or any lawful status once inadmissible under this ground, even if the person has strong equities such as being married to a U.S. citizen or a strong asylum case. A permanent resident who becomes inadmissible faces less severe penalties: the person cannot travel outside the United States, and will have to delay applying to become a U.S. citizen for some years, but will not lose the green card based solely on being inadmissible (as opposed to deportable, which does cause loss of the green card).

To avoid being inadmissible under this ground, a noncitizen needs to plead to some non-drug-related offense. If that is not possible, accessory after the fact is better than a drug offense, but the government may argue that this provides “reason to believe.” The person also should know that when applying for immigration status she will be questioned by authorities about whether she has been a participant in drug trafficking. She can remain silent but this may be used as a factor to deny the application.

Conviction of straight possession, under the influence, possession of paraphernalia etc. does not necessarily give the government “reason to believe” trafficking (unless it involved a suspiciously large amount).
6. Case Examples

- Dan is arrested after a hand-to-hand sale. His defender bargains to have the charging papers read “sale/offer to sell/transport” and has him plead guilty and accept the sentence with no further comments or admissions. He has avoided an aggravated felony and perhaps even avoided becoming deportable or inadmissible for a drug conviction. (See “Note: Record of Conviction” for more information.)

- Fred is charged with possession for sale. This conviction will be an aggravated felony. If immigration is important he should attempt to plead up to offering to sell, plead to accessory after the fact, or to some non-drug related offense.

- Nicole is undocumented and charged with sale. Because she is undocumented her first concern is to avoid being inadmissible. To do that she must plead to an offense not related to trafficking. A first conviction of simple possession would not make her inadmissible or deportable once the plea is withdrawn under Prop 36, etc. It is possible but not at all guaranteed that she can avoid inadmissibility if she pleads to a sale-type statute with a record of conviction that allows the possibility of offer to transport for personal use. It will at least avoid conviction of an aggravated felony. It would be far better if she could plead to an offense not related to controlled substances. She should know that if she ever does apply for lawful status, immigration authorities will ask her if she has participated in drug trafficking and will consider all evidence that comes to their attention, including police reports.
Note: Other Grounds

Domestic Violence, Firearms, Prostitution

For more information see California Criminal Law and Immigration, Chapters 6 and 9 and Note “Resources”

A. Domestic Violence Deportability Ground

A noncitizen is deportable if, after admission to the United States, he or she is convicted of a state or federal “crime of domestic violence,” stalking, or child abuse, neglect or abandonment. The person also is deportable if found in civil or criminal court to have violated certain sections of domestic violence protective orders. 8 USC § 1227(a)(2)(E).

The convictions, or the behavior that is the subject of the finding of violation of protective order, must occur on or after September 30, 1996.

The statute defines “crime of domestic violence” to include any crime of violence as defined in 18 USC § 16 “against a person committed by a current or former spouse of the person, by an individual with whom the person shares a child in common, by an individual who is cohabiting with or has cohabited with the person as a spouse, by an individual similarly situated to a spouse of the person under the domestic violence or family violence laws of the jurisdiction where the offense occurs, or by any other individual against a person who is protected from the individual’s acts under the domestic or family violence laws of the United States or any State, Indian Tribal government, or unit of local government.” 8 USC § 1227(a)(2)(E)(i).

This includes offenses such as P.C. § 273.5 where the domestic relationship is an element of the offense, as well as offenses such as straight assault or battery where the victim is proven to have the domestic relationship. Immigration judges appear to be split as to whether information from outside the record of conviction can be used to prove the domestic relationship. Where possible defense counsel should keep information about the domestic relationship out of the record of conviction, but should warn clients that immigration authorities may well use a marriage certificate, clients’ own statement, etc. to prove the relationship. A domestic violence counseling requirement as a condition of probation is information in the record of conviction that is used as evidence that a domestic relationship exists. But an offense that is not a “crime of violence” can carry a counseling requirement without incurring deportability; see below.

The only sure strategies to avoid a domestic violence conviction are (a) avoid conviction of a “crime of violence” and/or (b) have as the victim a person who does not have a qualifying domestic relationship (for example, if the ex-wife’s friend also was assaulted, plead to assault against that person rather than against the ex-wife). See chart and Note “Safer Pleas” for suggestions of offenses that may not be classed as crimes of violence, for example false imprisonment. See also Note “Is battery a crime of violence?” for a discussion of USA v Belless (9th Cir. 8/03), a case holding in a different context that battery is not a crime of violence unless the record of conviction shows that it went beyond “mere touching.” The complex definition of crime of violence under 18 USC §
16 is discussed in more detail in California Criminal Law and Immigration at § 9.13. As long as the noncitizen pleads to an offense that is not a crime of violence or to a victim that does not have the required domestic relationship, the offense cannot be termed a domestic violence offense and it is safe to accept probation conditions such as domestic violence counseling.

There is a strong argument, which may or may not prevail, that only crimes of violence against persons and not property will trigger the deportation ground, even though 18 USC § 16 penalizes both. Thus there is some advantage to pleading to an offense against property rather than person.

B. The Firearms Deportability Ground

A noncitizen is deportable if, at any time after entering the United States, he is “convicted under any law of purchasing, selling, offering for sale, exchanging, using, owning, possessing or carrying or of attempting or conspiring to [commit these acts] in violation of any law, any weapon, part or accessory which is a firearm or destructive device (as defined in [18 USC § 921(a)]…” 8 USC § 1227(a)(C).

An offense as minor as possession of an unregistered weapon can trigger this deportability ground. For suggestions on alternate pleas to avoid deportability under the firearms ground see discussion of P.C. §§ 245(a), 245(d) and 12020(a) in Note “Safer Pleas.”

Any offense involving trafficking in firearms and destructive devices (bombs and explosives) is an aggravated felony. So are state analogues to designated federal firearms offenses. See 8 USC § 1101(a)(43)(C), (E). Significantly, conviction of being a felon or addict in possession of a firearm under P.C. § 12021(a)(1) is an aggravated felony. US v Castillo-Rivera, 244 F.3d 1020 (9th Cir 2001).

C. Prostitution

A noncitizen is inadmissible if she “engages in” prostitution. 8 USC §1182(a)(2)(D). While no conviction is required for this finding, one or more convictions for prostitution will serve as evidence. Customers are not penalized under this ground. Prostitution is a crime involving moral turpitude. There are no decisions holding that a customer also commits a crime involving moral turpitude, but that is at least a possibility.

Conviction of some offenses involving running prostitution or other sex-related businesses are aggravated felonies. See 8 USC § 1101(a)(43)(I), (K). A non-citizen is deportable who has been convicted of importing noncitizens for prostitution or any immoral purpose. 8 USC § 1227(a)(2)(D)(iv).

Victims of alien smuggling who were forced into prostitution, or victims of any serious crimes, may be able to apply for temporary and ultimately permanent status if they cooperate with authorities in an investigation. See 8 USC § 1101(a)(15)(T), (U).
Note: Is Simple Battery a Crime Of Violence?

In a federal criminal law case, the Ninth Circuit held that a simple battery does not qualify as a domestic violence offense unless the record of conviction shows that the battery involved more than mere offensive touching. USA v. Belless, 338 F.3d 1063 (9th Cir. 2003). Simple assault also would appear to come within this ruling. As of this writing the government has asked for extra time to file a petition for rehearing and reconsideration. The opinion was by Judge Kleinfeld.

If this decision stands, it may mean that in the Ninth Circuit simple assault or battery, or even a domestic violence offense involving simple assault or battery, will not be a basis for deportability under the domestic violence ground unless the government establishes that the official record of conviction (charging papers, plea or judgment, and sentence) shows that the conduct went beyond mere offensive touching.

This case did not involve the domestic violence deportation ground (8 USC § 1227(a)(2)(E)), but a similarly worded federal sentence enhancement based on prior conviction of a "domestic violence offense" (18 USC § 921(a)(33)(A)(ii)). The prior offense had to include as an element the "use or attempted use of physical force, or the threatened use of a deadly weapon." The Wyoming battery offense being charged as the prior could be violated by mere rude or offensive touching; as an example of the touching that would constitute a battery, the Court cited Nixon's poking Khruschev in the chest with his finger. The Court held that the physical force described in the federal statute "is not de minimus." Therefore the battery statute was divisible for this purpose, encompassing a broader range of behavior than the federal statute. Finding that the record of conviction did not adequately demonstrate the degree of force used, the Court found that the conviction for simple battery, where the victim was a spouse, was not a domestic violence offense.

The definition in the statute at issue in Belless is close to the definition used under the domestic violence deportation ground for a misdemeanor crime of violence under 18 USC § 16(a), which is "an offense that has as an element the use, attempted use, or threatened use of physical force against the person or property of another." The Ninth Circuit has held in other contexts that “the force necessary to constitute a crime of violence [under 18 USC § 16] … must actually be violent in nature.” Ye v INS, 214 F.3d 1128 (9th Cir. 2000). As the Belless Court noted, "Any touching constitutes 'physical force' in the sense of Newtonian mechanics. Mass is accelerated, and atoms are displaced. Our purpose ... though, is to assign criminal responsibility, not to do physics."

The opinion had less good news in its requirements for proving the domestic relationship. The Court without discussion recognized a spousal relationship between the parties that appears not to have been included in the record of conviction. It also held that an offense need not have a domestic relationship as an element in order to be a crime of domestic violence.
Note: Burglary, Theft and Fraud
For more information see California Criminal Law and Immigration
Chapter 4 and §§ 9.10, 9.35 and Note “Resources”

Part I. Burglary

Burglary as an aggravated felony. A California burglary conviction with a one-year sentence imposed can potentially qualify as an aggravated felony in any of three ways: as "burglary," as a “crime of violence,” or, if it involves intent to commit theft, perhaps as “attempted theft.” See 8 USC §1101(a)(43)(F), (G). With careful pleading counsel may be able to avoid immigration penalties for this offense.

Burglary is not an aggravated felony unless a one-year sentence has been imposed. A sentence of 364 days or less avoids an aggravated felony, and avoids the necessity for using the following analysis. For suggestions on how to avoid a one-year sentence even in a somewhat serious case see Note “Sentence.”

If a one-year sentence is imposed, the only burglary conviction that is not an aggravated felony is

- burglary of an automobile or other non-structure under P.C. § 460(b), or in the alternative to P.C. § 460 where the record of conviction does not indicate whether (a) or (b) was the subject of the conviction, and

- with intent to commit “any felony,” or in the alternative “larceny or any felony” where the record of conviction does not identify the felony (or identifies a felony that does not involve moral turpitude). For more information on fashioning such pleas, see Note “Record of Conviction.”

The “generic” definition of burglary for this purpose is “an unlawful or unprivileged entry into, or remaining in, a building or other structure, with intent to commit a crime.” Taylor v. United States, 494 U.S. 575 (1990). Auto burglary under P.C. § 460(b) does not come within this definition of burglary and thus is not an aggravated felony as burglary. Neither is it a crime of violence. Ye v. INS, 214 F.3d 1128 (9th Cir. 2000). However, conviction under § 460(b) might be held an aggravated felony as attempted theft if the record of conviction establishes that the offense was committed “with intent to commit larceny.” To prevent this, counsel should create a record of conviction where the client is guilty only of “larceny or any felony” or “a felony.”

Burglary as a Crime Involving Moral Turpitude. Burglary is a crime involving moral turpitude (“CMT”) only if the intended offense involved moral turpitude. Entry with intent to commit larceny is a CMT, while entry with intent to commit an undesignated offense (“a felony”) or an offense that does not involve moral turpitude is not.

Possession of burglary tools (P.C. § 466) may lack any adverse immigration consequences; see Chart.
Part II. Theft

The aggravated felony definition of theft includes a permanent or temporary taking. (Compare to the moral turpitude definition of theft, below, which only includes a permanent taking). Thus joyriding with a one-year sentence imposed is an aggravated felony. The definition is limited to theft of property. Since P.C. § 484 includes theft of labor, it is a divisible statute. United States v. Corona-Sanchez, 291 F.3d 1201 (9th Cir. 2002)(en banc). If the record of conviction somehow is kept vague between theft of labor and other theft, the offense is not an aggravated felony as theft.

One-year sentence must be imposed. Theft is not an aggravated felony if a sentence of 364 days or less is imposed. 8 USC § 1101(a)(43)(G). But even a misdemeanor theft with a one-year sentence imposed will be an aggravated felony. See Note “Sentence.”

Petty with a prior is not an aggravated felony. The Ninth Circuit en banc held that a conviction for petty theft with a prior under P.C. §§ 484, 666 is not an aggravated felony, regardless of sentence imposed. Corona-Sanchez, supra. The Court held that a conviction with a two-year sentence imposed was not an aggravated felony, since petty theft itself has a maximum sentence of six months and the rest of the sentence was merely a recidivist sentence enhancement. Thus conviction of P.C. § 666 with a year or more sentence imposed is not an aggravated felony and where possible should be substituted for, e.g., conviction of felony grand theft with that sentence.

Theft as a moral turpitude conviction. Theft with intent to permanently deprive the owner is a crime involving moral turpitude (“CMT”), while temporary intent such as joyriding is not.

A single theft conviction and the CMT deportability/inadmissibility grounds. A single conviction of a CMT committed within five years of last admission will make a noncitizen deportable only if the offense has a maximum possible sentence of a year or more. 8 USC § 1227(a)(2)(A). Conviction for petty theft or attempted grand theft reduced to a misdemeanor (both with a six-month maximum sentence) as opposed to misdemeanor grand theft (with a one-year maximum) will avoid deportability.

A single conviction of a CMT will make a noncitizen inadmissible for moral turpitude. Under the “petty offense” exception, however, the noncitizen is not inadmissible if (a) she has committed only one CMT in her life and (b) the offense has a maximum sentence of a year and a sentence of six months or less was imposed. 8 USC § 1182(a)(2)(A). To create eligibility for the exception, reduce felony grand theft to a misdemeanor under P.C. § 17. Immigration authorities will consider the conviction to have a potential sentence of one year for purposes of the petty offense exception. LaFarga v INS, 170 F.3d 1213 (9th Cir. 1999). See also Note “Crimes Involving Moral Turpitude.”
Theft by Fraud. A conviction of theft by fraud under P.C. § 484 where the loss to the victim was $10,000 or more might be charged as an aggravated felony even if a sentence of a year or more was not imposed. See next section.

Part III. Fraud

Overview. An “offense that involves fraud or deceit in which the loss to the victim or victims exceeds $10,000” is an aggravated felony regardless of sentence imposed. Tax fraud where the loss to the government exceeds $10,000 and money laundering or illegal monetary transactions involving $10,000 also are aggravated felonies. Any offense containing fraud as an element is a crime involving moral turpitude.

Avoiding an Aggravated Felony. Counsel may be able to prevent the record of conviction from establishing that the offense involved fraud. Penal Code § 484 is a divisible statute that includes some acts involving fraud; the record of conviction should be clear of reference to fraud if the amount of loss might exceed $10,000. Penal code § 529(3) (false personation) appears not to be a fraud offense; see Note “Safer Pleas.”

A strategy for avoiding a record of conviction showing a $10,000 loss is to obtain extended continuance of criminal proceedings to allow the defendant to pay down restitution to an amount less than $10,000 before judgment and/or sentence.

Information in the probation report should not be considered to establish the $10,000 amount. As discussed in Note “Record of Conviction,” in 2002 a Ninth Circuit panel in Abreu-Reyes v. INS, departed from the established rule to hold that information in a probation report can be considered as part of the record of conviction, in a case where the probation report established the $10,000 loss. Abreu-Reyes was directly contradicted by an almost simultaneously published en banc opinion holding that the probation report is not part of the record of conviction. Subsequent Ninth Circuit opinions have disapproved Abreu-Reyes as being decided in error and in ignorance of the en banc case.

Counsel should include a specific statement in the plea agreement that the loss to the victim under that count was less than $10,000. This will not be an aggravated felony conviction even if the amount ordered for restitution is greater than $10,000. The Ninth Circuit held that a conviction of one count of bank fraud for passing a $600 bad check did not involve a loss over $10,000 since the plea agreement specified a $600 loss to the victim, even though restitution ordered as a result of the entire scheme (involving dismissed counts to which the defendant did not plead guilty but did make restitution) exceeded $10,000 and the probation report described a scheme involving more than $10,000. Chang v INS, 307 F.3d 1185 (9th Cir. 2002).

---

22 8 USC § 1101(a)(43)(D), (M).
23 Abreu-Reyes v. INS, 292 F.3d 1029 (9th Cir. 2002).
24 See U.S. v. Corona Sanchez, 291 F.3d 1201 (9th Cir. 2002)(en banc) and Chang v INS, infra, Huerta-Guevara v. INS, 321 F.3d 883 (9th Cir 2003), and Hernandez-Martinez v Ashcroft, 329 F.3d 1117 (9th Cir. 8/11/03) (specifically states that Abreu-Reyes is wrongly decided and should not be followed).
Note: Safer Alternatives

Alternate Pleas with Less Severe Immigration Consequences

Introduction. This Note offers a brief explanation of proposed safer offenses. For further discussion see works listed in Note “Resources.” Some of these analyses have been affirmed in published opinions, while others are merely the opinion of the authors as to how courts might be likely to rule. A plea to the offenses below will give immigrant defendants a greater chance to preserve or obtain lawful status in the United States. However, almost no criminal conviction is entirely safe from immigration consequences, which is why this Note is entitled “safer” not “safe” alternatives.

Divisible statute and the record of conviction. Many of the offenses discussed below are safer only because they are divisible statutes. For the defendant to gain an advantage from a divisible statute, the defense counsel must keep careful control over what information appears in the “record of conviction.” A divisible statute is one that includes offenses that carry adverse immigration consequences as well as those that do not. Faced with a divisible statute, immigration authorities will look only to the record of conviction (the charging papers, plea colloquy or judgment, and sentence) to determine which offense actually was the subject of the conviction. If the record of conviction is vague enough so that it is possible that the noncitizen was convicted under a part of the statute without immigration consequences, the immigration consequences do not apply and the noncitizen wins. For further discussion see Note “Record of Conviction.”

Contents

A. Accessory after the fact
B. For violent or sexual offenses
C. For offenses relating to firearms or explosives
D. For offenses relating to fraud, theft or burglary
E. For offenses relating to drugs
F. Sentence of 364 days or less
G. Attempt
H. Is your client a U.S. citizen without knowing it?

A. Accessory after the fact, the all-purpose substitute plea

Accessory after the fact under P.C. § 32 is useful because it does not take on the character of the principal’s offense. Conviction of accessory will not be held to be a conviction relating to violence, controlled substances, firearms, domestic violence, fraud, etc. For example, the Ninth Circuit held that accessory is not a crime of violence under 18 USC § 16, where the principal offense was murder for hire. US v Innie, 7 F.3d 840 (9th Cir.

25 Special thanks to Norton Tooby, who has identified several potential safer offenses.
Immigrant Legal Resource Center
September 2003

1993). The Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA, the national administrative appeals board for deportation cases) held that accessory after a drug trafficking offense is not a deportable drug conviction or an aggravated felony drug conviction. Matter of Batista-Hernandez, 21 I&N 955 (BIA 1997). Through hard bargaining, some noncitizen defendants who might have been convicted as principals have pled to accessory after the fact in order to avoid becoming deportable.

Accessory after the fact carries some significant immigration consequences.

- The BIA held that accessory with a one-year sentence imposed is an aggravated felony as “obstruction of justice.” Matter of Batista-Hernandez, supra. It is possible that the Ninth Circuit someday will overturn this decision, which is flawed. See Batista-Hernandez dissents and Matter of Espinoza, 22 I&N 889 (BIA 1999)(subsequent BIA decision holding that the similar offense misprision of felony is not obstruction of justice).

- The BIA held, in an older decision that also could be challenged, that accessory is a crime involving moral turpitude under a kind of obstruction of justice theory. Matter of Sanchez-Marin, 11 I&N 264 (BIA 1965). See discussion of accessory as a moral turpitude offense in California Criminal Law and Immigration, § 4.11.

- As stated above, accessory after the fact to a drug trafficking offense is not a conviction “relating to controlled substances” and will not cause deportability under that ground or, absent a one-year sentence imposed, be an aggravated felony. But the government may argue that the person is inadmissible because the conviction gives them “reason to believe” the noncitizen assisted a trafficker in the enterprise. See 8 USC § 1182(a)(2)(C) and Note “Drug Offenses.”

B. Safer pleas for violent or sexual offenses

Overview of consequences. Conviction of an offense that comes within the definition of a “crime of violence” under 18 USC § 16 can cause two types of adverse immigration consequences. If a sentence of a year or more is imposed it is an aggravated felony under 8 USC § 1101(a)(43)(F). Regardless of sentence, if the defendant had a domestic relationship with the victim it is a deportable offense as a “crime of domestic violence” under 8 USC § 1227(a)(2)(E). Under 18 USC § 16(a), an offense is a crime of violence if it has as an element intent to use or threaten force against a person or property. Under 18 USC § 16(b) a felony offense is a crime of violence even without intent to use force, if it is an offense that by its nature involves a substantial risk that force will be used.

Offenses that involve an intent to use great force or sexual intent also commonly are held to be crimes involving moral turpitude.

1. Persuading a witness not to file a complaint, P.C. § 136.1(b)(2).
The authors believe that conviction of this offense has no immigration consequences. It is not a crime of violence because it can involve non-violent verbal persuasion. It is not a moral turpitude offense because it does not require evil intent. It is a strike and can carry high prison exposure, which means that it might be accepted as an alternate plea to a serious offense where a one-year or more sentence would be imposed. Defendants who are not compelled to accept a strike may consider less serious substitute pleas such as false imprisonment.

2. False imprisonment, P.C. § 236.

Felony false imprisonment. The authors believe that felony false imprisonment can avoid being an aggravated felony even with a one-year sentence imposed, although it is a crime involving moral turpitude. Felony false imprisonment involves violence, menace, fraud or deceit. P.C. § 237(a). Because only violence and menace are crimes of violence, the offense is divisible: it is not a crime of violence and hence not an aggravated felony even if a one-year sentence is imposed, as long as the record of conviction does not indicate that violence or menace was involved. (A fraud offense is an aggravated felony but only if the victim lost at least $10,000. See Note “Burglary, Theft and Fraud.”) If the record of conviction either directly indicates fraud or deceit, or at least does not indicate that violence or menace was involved, the offense is not an aggravated felony. Any felony conviction of false imprisonment will be held a crime involving moral turpitude.

Misdemeanor false imprisonment. The authors believe that misdemeanor false imprisonment can avoid aggravated felony or moral turpitude classification, because by implication it does not involve fraud, deceit, violence or menace. It can be violated by mistaken false arrest or acts involving moral intimidation that do not arise to a threat of force. See, e.g., Schanafelt v. Seaboard Finance Co (1951) 108 Cal. App. 2d 420. To be secure, however, it would be desirable for the record of conviction not to reveal intent or actions involving violence, fraud, etc.

3. Simple assault and simple battery, P.C. §§ 241(a), 243(a)

Avoids Moral Turpitude. Simple battery and simple assault are not crimes involving moral turpitude. See e.g. Matter of B, 5 I&N 538 (BIA 1953).

Crime of Violence. Simple assault and battery commonly are held to be “crimes of violence,” and therefore can cause deportability under the domestic violence ground if the victim was a current or former spouse, co-parent of a child, or date of the defendant. See 8 USC § 1227(a)(2)(E) and discussion in Note “Domestic Violence.” (They cannot be an aggravated felony as a “crime of violence” because they have a six-month maximum sentence.) The Ninth Circuit, however, recently held in a non-immigration related domestic violence context that simple battery is not a crime of violence unless the record of conviction shows that there was more than the “mere touching” that is the minimum act to violate most battery statutes. USA v. Belless, 338 F.3d 1063 (9th Cir 2003). If the decision stands, there is a very good argument that if the record of conviction is kept clear of information that the battery actually involved some violence, it will not be trigger the domestic violence deportation ground. Assault should be decided in the same way. For further discussion see Note “Is Battery a Domestic Violence Offense?” Note that as of September 2003 the government had requested time to file a petition for rehearing in this case; counsel should be alert to new developments.

4. Battery with serious bodily injury, P.C. § 243(d)

Avoids moral turpitude. Because battery has no intent requirement, the offense ought not to be held not to involve moral turpitude despite the injury requirement. It is a strict liability crime in which the person might have used little force, but unknowingly on an “eggshell skull” victim. The BIA has so held in an unpublished but indexed decision (having some precedential value).26

Although the immigration authorities ought not to consult the record of conviction in this case, to be safe counsel should attempt to keep the record of conviction clear of information regarding intent or amount of force.

Other consequences. This is a “crime of violence” and will become an aggravated felony if a one-year sentence is imposed. It will trigger deportability under the domestic violence ground if the victim has a domestic relationship; see Note “Domestic Violence and Other Grounds.”

C. Safer pleas for offenses related to firearms or explosives

See also Note “Domestic Violence and Other Grounds”

1. Manufacture, possession of firearm, other weapon, P.C. § 12020(a)

Avoiding deportability under the firearms ground. A noncitizen who has been admitted to the U.S. is deportable if convicted of almost any offense relating to firearms, including possession or use. See 8 USC § 1227(a)(2)(C) and Note “Domestic Violence, Firearms.” Section 12020(a) is a divisible statute that includes offenses that do not relate to firearms, for example possession of a blackjack in § 12020(a)(1) or carrying a concealed dirk or dagger under § 12020(a)(4). If the record of conviction does not indicate that a firearm was involved in the offense, the conviction does not trigger deportability under the firearms ground. Thus a defendant could plead guilty to possessing a specific weapon that was not a firearm, or generally to possession of a weapon listed in § 12020(a) or (a)(1) as long as the record of conviction (charging papers, judgment or plea colloquy and sentence) does not indicate that the weapon was a gun or explosive.

Other consequences. There are no other immigration consequences to the plea as outlined above; possession of a weapon without intent to use it is not a moral turpitude offense or a crime of violence. Section 12020 as a whole does contain several dangerous offenses, including trafficking in firearms or explosive devices which is an aggravated felony under 8 USC § 1101(a)(43)(C).

2. Assault with a firearm or other weapon, P.C. § 245(a)

Avoiding deportability under the firearms ground. For purposes of the firearms deportation ground, P.C. § 245(a) is a divisible statute. Part (a)(1) penalizes assault with weapons other than a firearm and part (a)(2) penalizes assault with a firearm. If the defendant pleads to § 245(a)(1), or if the record of conviction does not reveal whether the offense involved was (a)(1) or (a)(2), the conviction does not make the defendant deportable under the firearms ground.

Other consequences. This is a crime involving moral turpitude, so it is useful only when the defendant can afford to have a conviction of a crime involving moral turpitude, but cannot afford to be deportable under the firearms ground. That can happen. For example, a single conviction of a crime involving moral turpitude will make a permanent resident deportable only if the offense was committed within five years of the person’s last admission to the U.S. See Note “Crimes Involving Moral Turpitude.” If the person committed the offense outside the five-year period, he could accept this plea in order to avoid the firearms ground and still escape becoming deportable for moral turpitude. To avoid a moral turpitude offense see P.C. §§ 241(a) or 243(d). Each of these offenses is a crime of violence and will be an aggravated felony if a one-year sentence is imposed, and a domestic violence deportable offense if the victim had the domestic relationship. See Note “Domestic Violence.”

D. Safer pleas for offenses relating to fraud, theft or burglary

For also Note “Burglary, Theft and Fraud”

1. False personation, P.C. § 529(3)

The authors believe that conviction under P.C. § 529(3) may have no immigration consequences. It is a possible alternative to offenses such as forgery, misstatement, fraud, etc. Such offenses usual constitute moral turpitude offenses or may become aggravated felonies.

Section 529(3) reaches "[e]very person who falsely personates another in either his private or official capacity, and in such assumed character . . . . 3. Does any other act whereby, if done by the person falsely personated, he might, in any event, become liable to any suit or prosecution, or to pay any sum of money, or to incur any charge, forfeiture, or penalty, or whereby any benefit might accrue to the party personating, or to any other person.” It is a felony/misdemeanor offense.

This offense does not amount to fraud according to the California Supreme Court. In People v. Rathert (2000) 24 Cal.4th 200, the Court held that § 529(3) is violated without any requirement that the defendant have specific intent to cause any liability to the person impersonated, or to secure a benefit to any person. The statute “requires the existence of no state of mind or criminal intent beyond that plainly expressed on the face of the statute.”  Id. at 202.  “[T]he Legislature sought to deter and to punish all acts by an impersonator that might result in a liability or a benefit, whether or not such a consequence was intended or even forseen.”  Id. at 206.  (emphasis added)  Moral turpitude generally requires an evil motive.  Here the Court noted “One does not violate paragraph 3 merely by happening to resemble another person.  Rather, one must intentionally engage in a deception that may fairly be described as noninnocent behavior, even if, in some instances, it might not stem from an evil motive.”  Id. at 209.

2.  Petty theft with a prior, P.C. §§ 484, 666

Avoids aggravated felony theft.  The Ninth Circuit has held that petty theft with a prior is not an aggravated felony as a theft offense with a one-year sentence imposed, even if a sentence of more than a year is imposed as an enhancement under § 666.  U.S. v. Corona-Sanchez, 291 F.3d 1201 (9th Cir. 2002)(en banc).  In contrast, misdemeanor or felony grand theft with a one-year sentence imposed will be held to be an aggravated felony.

Other immigration consequences.  Theft with intent to permanently deprive the owner is a crime involving moral turpitude.

3.  Joyriding, Veh.C. § 10851(a)

Alternative to auto theft for moral turpitude.  Because joyriding requires only an intent to temporarily deprive the owner, it is not a crime involving moral turpitude.  Section 10851(a) is a divisible statute including intent to permanently or temporarily deprive the owner.  If the record of conviction does not indicate which intent was involved the conviction does not involve moral turpitude.  Matter of M, 2 I&N 686 (BIA 1946) (former P.C. § 499(b)).

Other immigration consequences.  Joyriding with a one-year sentence imposed will be an aggravated felony as theft; that definition of theft does encompass a temporary taking.  Corona-Sanchez, supra.

4.  Auto Burglary, P.C. § 460(b)

Not an aggravated felony.  Auto burglary under §460(b) with a one-year sentence imposed is not an aggravated felony as ‘burglary’ or a “crime of violence.”  Ye v. INS, 214 F.3d 1128 (9th Cir. 2000).  A plea generally to § 460 where the record of conviction does not identify whether it was to subsection (a) or (b) will have the same effect.  To make sure that the offense is not held an aggravated felony as attempted theft, the record of conviction should be kept clear of evidence that it was done with intent to commit larceny, i.e. it should read “intent to commit any felony” or “larceny or any felony,” where the felony is not identified.  Of course no burglary, of a car or a dwelling, is an aggravated felony if a sentence of 364 days or less is imposed.  See Note “Sentence.”
Other consequences. Auto burglary is a crime involving moral turpitude to the extent of the underlying intent. Entry with intent to commit larceny involves moral turpitude, while entry with intent to a felony that is not turpitudinous, or to commit “any felony” where the felony is not identified on the record of conviction, does not.

5. A plea agreement that specifies less than a $10,000 loss to the victim

A fraud or tax fraud offense in which the loss to the victim/government is more than $10,000 is an aggravated felony under 8 USC § 1101(a)(43)(M). Where a plea agreement specifically provides that for that particular count the loss to the victim was less than $10,000, the offense is not an aggravated felony even if restitution of more than $10,000 is ordered. See discussion of Chang v INS, 307 F.3d 1185 (9th Cir. 2002) in Note “Burglary, Theft and Fraud.”

E. Safer pleas for offenses related to drugs
See further discussion in Note “Drug Offenses”

1. Accessory after the fact to a drug offense is not a deportable drug conviction or aggravated felony. See Part A above.

2. Offering to sell is not an aggravated felony (and arguably not a deportable offense) while sale is. Therefore sections such as H&S §§ 11352(a), 11360(a) and 11377(a) are divisible statutes between sale, distribution and transport and offering to do those acts. U.S. v. Rivera-Sanchez, 247 F.3d 905 (9th Cir. 2001)(en banc). Transportation for personal use also should not be held an aggravated felony, making these offenses further divisible. The best resolution would be to plead to the entire section in the disjunctive.

3. A first conviction for simple possession (felony or misdemeanor) or a lesser offense such as possession of paraphernalia or under the influence is eliminated for immigration purposes by “rehabilitative relief” such as under Prop 36, DEJ or P.C. § 1203.4. Lujan-Armendariz v INS, 222 F.3d 728 (9th Cir. 2000), Cardenas-Uriarte v. INS, 227 F.3d 1132 (9th Cir. 2000).

4. If the controlled substance in the case is not identified either in the record of conviction or under the terms of the statute then the government is deemed unable to prove that the offense involved a federally defined controlled substance and there are no drug immigration consequences. Matter of Paulus, 11 I&N 274 (BIA 1965).

5. Be aware of conduct-based immigration consequences. See Note “Drug Offenses” for a discussion of the grounds of deportability and inadmissibility that may apply even absent a drug conviction. If there is evidence that the defendant is or has been a drug addict or abuser, or has ever been or aided a drug trafficker, immigration penalties may attach even if there is no conviction or one that is not an aggravated felony. Admission of addiction at a CRC disposition or in “drug court,” or conviction of “offering to sell,” may bring designation as an addict, abuser or trafficker.
F. Sentence of 364 Days or Less

Many offenses become aggravated felonies only if a sentence of a year or more is imposed. These include crime of violence, theft, receipt of stolen property, burglary, bribery of a witness, commercial bribery, counterfeiting, forgery, trafficking in vehicles that have had their VIN numbers altered, obstruction of justice, perjury, subornation of perjury, and with some exceptions false immigration documents. See 8 USC § 1101(a)(43). Often defense counsel have more leeway in avoiding a one-year sentence for a particular count than in pleading to an alternate offenses. For creative suggestions about how to arrive at less than a one-year sentence even in somewhat serious cases, see Note “Sentence.”

Many other offenses are aggravated felonies regardless of sentence imposed, for example, sexual abuse of a minor, rape, and firearms and drug offenses. Fraud and money laundering offenses depend on whether $10,000 was lost or involved, not on sentence. Avoiding a one-year sentence in these cases will not prevent an aggravated felony. See Note “Aggravated Felonies.”

G. Attempt, P.C. § 21a

Attempt takes on the character of the principal offense for immigration purposes so that, e.g., attempt to commit a drug offense has the same adverse immigration consequences as the drug offense. But attempt does offer a particular benefit in avoiding the deportability ground for conviction of one crime involving moral turpitude, because for most offenses attempt carries half the potential sentence of the principal offense, under P.C. § 644(b).

A noncitizen is deportable if convicted of a single crime involving moral turpitude, committed within five years of last admission, if the offense carries a potential sentence of one year or more. A noncitizen who is convicted of a wobbler that involves moral turpitude and who has the conviction reduced to a misdemeanor under P.C. § 17 remains deportable, because the misdemeanor carries a potential sentence of one year. But if the reduced offense was attempt, the misdemeanor conviction has a potential sentence of only six months, and a single offense cannot cause deportation under the moral turpitude ground. See 8 USC § 1227(a)(2)(A)(i), (ii) and Note “Crimes Involving Moral Turpitude.”

H. Is your client a U.S. citizen without knowing it?

A United States citizen faces no immigration consequences for any conviction. A citizen cannot be prosecuted for any offense for which alienage is an element (such as illegal re-entry).

All persons born in the United States and Puerto Rico are U.S. citizens. Many people who were born in other countries also are U.S. citizens and may not know it. Many people born abroad inherited U.S. citizenship at birth from a parent without being aware of it. Others who were permanent residents here as children may have automatically become citizens when a parent naturalized. To begin the inquiry, ask the defendant the following two threshold questions.

- When you were born did you have a parent or a grandparent who was a U.S. citizen? and
- At any time before your 18th birthday did the following take place (in any order): you were a permanent resident, and one or both parents naturalized to U.S. citizenship?

If the answer to either threshold question might be yes, additional information needs to be collected, after which the case may be analyzed according to a citizenship chart. For assistance contact an immigration attorney or resource center; local non-profit immigration organizations also have expertise in this area, and if your local U.S. Passport office is not overburdened it might offer assistance. Note that if the client is a U.S. citizen, generally it is faster and better to apply for an American passport at a U.S. passport agency as proof of citizenship than to ask the INS for a citizenship certificate. However, the defendant can assert citizenship as a defense in removal proceedings and have the immigration judge decide the case (unfortunately often while the person remains detained by immigration authorities).
Note: Client Immigration Questionnaire
For all non-citizen defendants

Purpose: To obtain the facts necessary for an immigration expert to determine current immigration status, possible immigration relief, and immigration consequences of a conviction and. For more information on immigration relief see referenced sections of California Criminal Law and Immigration (“CCLI”).

Documents: Photocopy any immigration documents/passport.

Criminal History: Rap sheets and possible current plea-bargain offenses needed before calling.

Note: While completing this questionnaire, on a separate sheet of paper create one chronology showing dates of criminal acts and convictions as well as the immigration events discussed in the questionnaire.

Client's Name: ____________________________ Date of Interview: ________________

Immigration Hold: YES  NO

Client's Immigration Lawyer: ____________________________ Telephone Number: (_____) ____________ Def's DOBirth: ______________

1. Entry: Date first entered U.S.? ___________ Visa Type: ______________
   Significant departures: Date:______ Length: ________ Purpose: _________________
   Date last entered U.S.? _____________ Visa Type: _______________
   Relief: Undocumented persons here for 10 yrs with citizen or LPR family might be eligible for non-LPR cancellation. See CCLI § 11.3.

2. Immigration Status: Lawful permanent resident? YES  NO
   If so, date client obtained green card? ______________
   Relief: Consider cancellation of removal for long-time residents; See CCLI § 11.10.

Other special immigration status: (refugee), (asylee), (temp. resident), (work permit), (TPS), (Family Unity), (ABC), (undocumented), (visa - type:________________) Date obtained? ______________
   Did anyone ever file a visa petition for you? YES  NO
   Name and #:________________________________________________________ Date? ____________
   Type of visa petition? ________________________ Was it granted? YES  NO
3. Prior Deportations: Ever been deported or gone before an immigration judge? YES

NO Date? ______________________

Reason? ______________________________________

Do you have an immigration court date pending? YES  NO

Date? ______________________________

Reason? ______________________________________

4. Prior Immigration Relief: Ever before received a waiver of deportability [§ 212(c) relief or cancellation of removal] or suspension of deportation?

YES  NO Which: __________ Date: __________

5. Relatives with Status: Do you have a U.S. citizen (parent), (spouse), (child -- DOB(s) _______________________________), (brother) or (sister)?

Do you have a lawful permanent resident (spouse) or (parent)?

Relief: Consider family immigration, see CCLI § 11.13.

6. Employment: Would your employer help you immigrate (only a potential benefit to professionals)? YES  NO

Occupation: _______________ Employer's name/number: ______________________________

7. Possible Unknown U.S. Citizenship: Were your or your spouse's parent or grandparent born in the U.S. or granted U.S. citizenship? YES  NO Were you a permanent resident under the age of 18 when a parent naturalized to U.S. citizenship? YES  NO

8. Have you been abused by your spouse or parents? YES  NO

Relief: Consider VAWA application, see CCLI § 11.19.

9. In what country were you born? _________________ Would you have any fear about returning? YES  NO Why?

Relief: Consider asylum/withholding, or if recent civil war or natural disaster, see if entire country has been designated for “TPS.” See CCLI §§ 11.4-5, 7.

10. Are you a victim of serious crime or alien trafficking and helpful in investigation or prosecution of the offense? YES  NO

Relief: Consider “T” or “U” visa; see CCLI §§ 11.28-29.
Note: Other Resources
Books, Websites, Services

Books

Immigrant Legal Resource Center. The ILRC publishes California Criminal Law and Immigration, by Katherine Brady, author of this chart and notes and an immigration attorney for the last twenty years. A comprehensive analysis of California criminal laws and immigration, with in-depth discussion of eligibility for immigration relief, categories of immigration penalties, and plea strategies for specific offenses. To order go to publications at www.ilrc.org or contact the Immigrant Legal Resource Center, 1663 Mission St., Suite 602, San Francisco CA 94103, tel. 415/255-9499, fax 415/255-9792.

The Immigrant Legal Resource Center publishes several other books, manuals and packets of materials on other aspects of immigration law. All materials are written for audiences to include non-immigration attorneys. See list of publications at www.ilrc.org or contact ILRC to ask for a brochure.

Law Offices of Norton Tooby. A criminal practitioner of thirty years experience who has become a national expert in immigration law as well, Norton Tooby has written several books that are national in scope and specifically aimed at criminal defense attorneys. Criminal Defense of Non-Citizens includes an in-depth analysis of immigration consequences and moves chronologically through a criminal case. Aggravated Felonies and Crimes Involving Moral Turpitude provide general discussion of these areas, and also discuss and digest in chart form all federal and administrative immigration opinions relating to these categories. Other books include studies of means of obtaining post-conviction relief under California law, and nationally. Go to www.criminalandimmigrationlaw.com or call 510/601-1300, fax 510/601-7976.

Websites

Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA) decisions can be accessed from a good government website. Go to www.usdoj.gov/eoir. Click on “virtual law library” and look for “BIA/AG administrative decisions.”

The website of the law offices of Norton Tooby offers a very valuable collection of archived articles and a free newsletter. Other services, including constant updating of Mr. Tooby’s books, are offered for a small fee. Go to www.criminalandimmigrationlaw.com.
The website of the Immigrant Legal Resource Center offers material on a range of immigration issues, including a free downloadable manual on immigration law affecting children in delinquency, dependency and family court, and information about immigration applications for persons abused by U.S. citizen parent or spouse under the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA). Go to www.ilrc.org.

The National Immigration Project of the National Lawyers Guild offers practice guides and updates on various issues that can affect criminal defendants. The National Immigration Project provides information and a brief bank on immigration and criminal issues, on VAWA applications for persons abused by citizen or permanent resident spouse or parent, and applications under the former § 212(c) relief. The Project also will post a chart of immigration consequences of federal offenses. Go to www.nationalimmigrationproject.org.

The New York State Defenders Association has several excellent practice guides for criminal defenders of immigrants, as well as a chart of immigration consequences of New York offenses. Go to www.nysda.org.

The national Defending Immigrants Project, located at the National Legal Aid and Defender Association, posts information about criminal defense of immigrants. Among other resources the NLADA website provides links to charts similar to this one, showing immigration consequences of offenses under New York, New Jersey, Florida, Texas and Illinois law. Go to www.nlada.org.

Seminars

The Immigrant Legal Resource Center and the Law Offices of Norton Tooby jointly present full-day seminars on the immigration consequences of California convictions. For information go to www.criminalandimmigrationlaw.com. The ILRC presents seminars on a variety of immigration issues. Go to www.ilrc.org and click on seminars.

Consultation

The Immigration Clinic at U.C. Davis law school offers free consultation on immigration consequences of crimes to defenders in the greater Sacramento area and some statewide.

The Immigrant Legal Resource Center provides consultation for a fee on individual questions about immigration law through its regular attorney of the day services. Questions are answered within 48 hours or sooner as needed. The ILRC has contracts with several private and Public Defender offices. For information go to “contract services” at www.ilrc.org or call 415/2

The National Immigration Project of the National Lawyers Guild (Boston) offers consultation in this area. Director Dan Kesselbrenner can be reached at dan@nationalimmigrationproject.org. The Project is a membership organization but also will consult with non-members.